Sue Nash Captures Women's Golf Title DEFEATS MRS. STONE 2 UP TO TAKE TOURNEY

Coolness of Wisconsin Rapids Girl Enables Her to Down Champion

WINNER LEADS EARLY

Champion Flight Ends Tournament of Ladies' Northeastern Group

Miss Sue Nash, Wisconsin Rapids, was crowned new champion of the Ladies' Northeastern Golf association here Thursday morning when she defeated Mrs. Stanley Stone, Green Lake defending champion 2 up, two years. Stone held the title for two years. Miss Nash led throughout the match, her coolness carrying her out of trouble on numerous occasions. Mrs. Stone was a determined opponent, however, battling to the end. Miss Nash's greatest margin during the match was 4 up. She finished the first nine holes by the same margin that won her the title.

Butter des Mots golf course over which the tournament was played was in perfect condition for the final round. A gallery of about 100 persons, mostly women, watched the new champion win the title.

The first hole went to Miss Nash when her putting gave her a margin. A par four enabled her to take the second hole, the ball being on the green in three.

The third hole was halved, Mrs. Stone overcoming Miss Nash's advantage by sensational putting. The defending champion ran into trouble on the long fourth hole, however, and Miss Nash made it three up.

A par three on the short fifth hole brought Mrs. Stone back into the running and she cut down the margin by negotiating the troublesome sixth hole for a par five.

Both players found trouble on the seventh hole but Miss Nash won with a five and took the eighth when Mrs. Stone shot her ball in a trap. A par four enabled Mrs. Stone to win the ninth hole but she finished the first nine holes two down.

Miss Nash increased her lead by taking a par four on the tenth hole by virtue of good putting. The eleventh hole was halved with five, but the twelfth went to Miss Nash when Mrs. Stone conceded the hole after going into the creek in front of the green.

Mrs. Stone took the thirteenth hole with a par five, Miss Nash going into the creek. The fourteenth was halved, as was the fifteenth. Going onto the sixteenth hole, Mrs. Stone came back to win and also took the seventeenth when Miss Nash was stymied. Mrs. Stone took a four.

Going into the eighteenth hole one down, the two drove on a par with each other, but Mrs. Stone saw her chance dwindle when she went into the rough. Miss Nash took a six and Mrs. Stone an eight.

MRS. BRANDT LOSES

Results in the five other flights were: First flight—Mrs. Verkerke, Oshkosh, beat Mrs. August Brandt, 1 up on the nineteenth hole.

Second flight—Miss Sybelle Plank, Appleton, beat Mrs. J. Whalen, Appleton, 2 and 1.

Third flight—Mrs. W. H. Nelson, Neenah, beat Mrs. W. Wick, Sheboygan, 5 and 4.

Fourth flight—Mrs. Webster, Neenah, beat Mrs. Neil Branson, Green Bay, 1 up.

Fifth flight—Mrs. Kent, Green Lake, defeated Mrs. Hugh Falvey, Neenah, 4 and 2.

Low gross score honors were awarded Mrs. Stanley Stone with a 91, while Mrs. Stone and Mrs. Neal Spoor, Neenah, tied for low net score with 85.

The driving contest was won by the new champion, Miss Sue Nash, with an average of 153 yards. The approaching putting contest was won by Mrs. E. B. Sanders, Menominee, with Mrs. Conrad Testwuide, Sheboygan, second. Miss Mary Plank won non-qualifying honors while Mrs. H. A. DeBauer had low handicap against a par.

China Seizes Rail Control From Soviet

Southern Road Wrested from Russians—Other Lines May Be Grasped

Tokio—(AP)—Japanese official circles watched events in Manchuria today with growing anxiety, seeing in the Chinese coup which has destroyed the Russian control of the Chinese Eastern railway a situation dangerous to the Chinese Southern railway, in which Japan has a vital interest.

A dispatch from Harbin today stated that the Chinese authorities took over complete control of the Chinese Eastern railway at midnight last night.

It was thought possible the attempt to rid the Chinese Eastern railway of Russians would be followed by a similar attempt along the South Manchuria railway, one of the most vital points in the Japanese imperial policy.

Tokio has followed closely all the reported conversations at Peking between Chang Hsueh Liang, overlord of Manchuria, Chiang Kai-shek and C. T. Wang, Nanjing foreign minister. It was feared these conversations would result in a strengthening of Nanking's control over Manchuria's foreign interests.

It was said in well informed quarters the Chinese coup had been planned at a recent high council in Mukden of Manchurian leaders. They were fortified by promises of Nanking's support.

OUT RUSSIANS

Harbin, Manchuria—(AP)—An official announcement was made today that the Russian general manager and assistant general manager and all Russian heads of various departments of the important Chinese Eastern railway, have been "dismissed."

The Chinese, Shan Chi-Khan, a member of the board of directors and assistant general manager, has been appointed to assume charge.

B. N. Melnikov, consul general for the Soviet at Harbin, met with the consul general at Chihlin, the Russian vice president of the railway and other high soviet officials after the seizure. They took no action which was immediately obvious.

Heretofore there has been no resistance to the Chinese coup which has been relentless and thorough. It was said the Russians were unable to get in touch with their home offices owing to the seizure of the telegraph and telephone lines also.

REFUSE TROTSKY PLEA FOR ENTRY IN ENGLAND

London—(AP)—Home Secretary Clynnes announced in the House of Commons today he had decided against allowing Leon Trotsky, exiled communist leader, to visit Great Britain.

Paris—(AP)—Premier Poincare fired the first gun in parliament today in what promises to be a keen battle over ratification of the Mellon-Berenger debt accord. In beginning his speech, which was expected to last most of the day, the premier strongly urged unreserved ratification.

Contrary to his custom, M. Poincare refrained from making an elaborate review of the history of the case, but squarely confronted the chamber with its responsibilities.

"There are two ways in which you may destroy the Young plan," he began, "first, by non-ratification, and second, by ratification with reservations unacceptable to our creditors."

POINCARÉ STARTS DEBT ACCORD FIGHT

Paris—(AP)—Premier Poincare fired the first gun in parliament today in what promises to be a keen battle over ratification of the Mellon-Berenger debt accord. In beginning his speech, which was expected to last most of the day, the premier strongly urged unreserved ratification.

Contrary to his custom, M. Poincare refrained from making an elaborate review of the history of the case, but squarely confronted the chamber with its responsibilities.

"There are two ways in which you may destroy the Young plan," he began, "first, by non-ratification, and second, by ratification with reservations unacceptable to our creditors."

MELLON WON'T QUIT PRESENT CABINET POST

Rumor Called Too Absurd to Discuss—Secretary Enjoys His Duties

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1929 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—The oft-circulated rumor that Secretary Mellon is to resign is current again, this time having emanated from financial quarters in New York. By those who are in a position to know the rumor was described as too absurd to discuss.

The truth is Mr. Mellon and Mr. Hoover are working together with a thorough understanding and mutual respect. The relations between Mr. Hoover and Mr. Mellon are not exactly the same as those between Mr. Coolidge and the secretary of the treasury but that is largely due to the fact that the two presidents are different.

On many occasions in the past Mr. Hoover as secretary of commerce differed with the secretary of the treasury and it is natural that different viewpoints should be held by them now, but on the major things on which an accord is essential they are in harmony. Mr. Mellon is not the type of man who feels sensitive if somebody opposes his view. Nothing more striking as an illustration could be given than his votes on the federal reserve board. He maintains an independence, sometimes voting with the majority and sometimes with the minority view, but always taking the practical aspect based on the circumstances of the moment.

DIFFER ON WORLD BANK

One of the things on which there is a divergence of view at present in connection with American representation on the proposed international bank which is to be a clearing house of reparations payments, Mr. Mellon thinks the federal reserve system

CHARLES A. WILSON FARM BOARD MEMBER

New Measure Adopted To Raise Funds For U. Of W.

Assembly Substitutes Sur-tax Bill Instead of Raising Tuition

Madison—(AP)—The assembly today substituted a surtax of one-third the normal rate on incomes over $3,000 for the plan to nearly double University of Wisconsin tuition fees. An amendment to the university appropriation bill by Assemblyman Budlong, Marinette, was adopted by the surprising vote of 69 to 21.

The amendment was adopted after a long debate. The chief opponents being Wallace Ingalls, Racine, and M. E. Goff, Sturgeon Bay.

The Budlong amendment would eliminate all appropriations from the state general fund and would also wipe out the regular mill tax levied on general property for the support of the university.

If the Budlong amendment which eliminates the necessity of increas-

"Yardstick" For Tariff Favored By President

Washington—(AP)—Two outstanding Republican leaders left a White House conference with President Hoover today impressed with the idea that the president was in favor of applying the yardstick of "adequate protection," to the pending tariff bill.

The conference was attended by Senators Watson of Indiana, the party leader, and Reed of Pennsylvania, second ranking Republican on the finance committee.

Neither would commit himself afterward on what the effect would be on the house measure by the application of such a yardstick rule.

The house bill received almost unanimous Republican support. Senator Watson said that the president wants a "sane and sensible" tariff measure. Whether the president considers the house bill "sane and sensible" was not disclosed. The senators would not say either that Mr. Hoover was displayed with the house bill.

However, the view was held at the capital that the Republicans who control the senate finance committee would work for a readjustment of the house measure.

MAY ARBITRATE IN STRIKE OF CARMEN

Public Service Directors Will Meet Citizens' Mediation Group

New Orleans—(AP)—The street car strike here moved a step forward toward arbitration today with the calling off of a labor mass meeting and announcement by New Orleans Public Service, Inc., that its board of directors would meet a citizens' mediation committee. The mass meeting of all union labor in New Orleans had been called for tonight to consider the advisability of a general walk-out in sympathy with the carmen.

The citizens' committee hoped the company would modify its open shop plan and agree to arbitrate in the strike that has stalled the car system for ten days and caused loss of lives and property.

NEENAH YOUTH IS HURT IN CAR CRASH

Gilbert Burmeister Receives Scalp Wounds in Automobile Collision

Gilbert Burmeister, Neenah, is in St. Elizabeth hospital with severe lacerations of the scalp as a result of an automobile accident on the lake road about a mile from Appleton at 11:30 Wednesday evening. Burmeister, blinded by the lights of an approaching car, drove his machine into the back end of a car in front of him, severed across the road and ran along a deep ditch until he hit a curb. His companion, another youth from Neenah, was uninjured.

The occupants of the other car, two men from Little Chute who were returning from a paper mill at Neenah, were they had been working on the night shift, were not hurt, although a wheel was taken off their car. T. O. Burmeister machine was badly wrecked.

The occupants of both cars were taken to St. Elizabeth hospital by an ambulance. Neenah, who was driver, is recovering.

TWO SENTENCED IN FORGED PAPERS CASE

Berlin—(AP)—Six months in prison for Vladimir Orloff and five for Peter Stasowsky were demanded by State Attorney Kohler today in the course of prosecution's final plea in the Orloff forgery case.

Both the Russians, he said, had gravely misused the right of asylum granted to them by Germany. By implication he also criticized the police, saying that they could probably have been in a position "to take measures which would have made this trial unnecessary."

Assistant State Attorney Ebel said that Hubert R. Knickerbocker, Berlin correspondent of the New York Evening Post, had acted correctly throughout the case and had showed great disinterestedness from the beginning. In no wise had he acted as agent provocateur.

None of them, however, suffered serious harm, according to attendants at local hospitals where they received treatment.

MOTOR BEGINS TO SHOW SIGN OF WEAKENING

"Tough Hombres" Have Good Chance of Outlasting Their Airplane

Culver City, Calif.—(AP)—Entering the tenth day of their endurance flight, L. W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhardt today took another 100 gallons supply of gasoline aboard their sturdy bi-plane and continued their game effort to prove that man can outlast a motor.

Hot coffee and rolls were handed down to the fliers during the refueling contact which was accomplished as smoothly as in the early stages of the flight.

At 7:29:30 a. m. the ninth day in the air was completed, the fliers having been aloft 216 hours.

The single 220-horse power motor of the plane appeared to be good for many more hours of duty and the fliers gave no indication of nearing the point of exhaustion.

ATTORNEYS WILL NOT OPPOSE KOHLER PLEA

Madison—(AP)—Governor Kohler's request that ouster proceedings brought against him be transferred from Dane to the Sheboygan circuit court, will not be contested by the two special attorneys representing the state, according to Harold M. Wilkie, Madison, one of the attorneys.

Because the venue change will not be opposed, an order transferring the suit to the governor's home county is expected to be issued by Judge A. C. Hoppmann Saturday.

The next step in the removal suit is expected to be the filing of a demurrer in Sheboygan circuit court as soon as the order for the change is made. Harry L. Butler, Madison, attorney for the governor, is expected to demur to the complaint on the ground that the ouster practice act is unconstitutional, or that the complaint does not state a cause for action.

New York—(AP)—John McGraw chose William Walker as his pitcher in the second game of today's double header with the Cubs, in an attempt to gain an even break, with Chicago for the day. The Cubs won the first contest by an 8 to 3 count. Walker was opposed on the mound by Sheriff Blake.

Huber, Progressive, today killed Assemblyman Grobsemidt's bill which would have legalized Sunday amusements which are now carried on despite the state blue laws. ## Fight Ahead On State Gas Tax Increase Madison—(AP)—The contest over Wisconsin's gasoline tax and road building appropriations will be a battle between the wealthier southeastern part of the state, opposed to increases in the tax, and the less wealthy western and northern counties where roads are needed. This was made plain at Wednesday's assembly highway committee hearing on the compromise gas tax and highway bill which claims Gov. Kohler's endorsement.

J. C. Davis, Milwaukee Citizens bureau, said he was not opposed to the 3 cent gas tax bill proposed—an increase of 1 cent—if the money thereby obtained is used on development of state roads. The bill doubles the amount of money allowable for county and local roads.

"Most of the money raised by the gas tax comes from southeastern Wisconsin and people there expect it to go into state roads and not to other counties and towns."

Martin E. Fowler, Racine attorney, opposed an increase in the tax, claiming there is no necessity for it. "Wisconsin is the fourth state in construction of concrete roads and second on general construction on the basis of auto registration," he said, counseling that the new three-man highway commission be allowed to study road needs and report to the 1931 legislature.

Rome Has Warm Welcome For Williams And Yancey

DUCE GREETED 2 AMERICANS AT HIS VILLA

Fliers Receive Flood of Invitations to Celebrations in Their Honor

Rome — (AP) — Italian hospitality opened wide its arms today to two American aviators, Roger Q. Williams and Captain Lewis A. Yancey, who landed at Littorio airfield at 9:30 p. m. (3:30 p. m. Appleton time) — yesterday from Santander, Spain completing a transatlantic flight from Old Orchard, Me.

Not even a tentative schedule for their activities the next few days has been arranged, but it was said at the American embassy and in official government quarters that a flood of invitations and requests had appeared and needed sitting since it would be impossible for the fliers to comply with all.

Italians regarded almost as notable as their flight the intense interest Premier Mussolini displayed in their feat. The duke was kept waiting for two hours last evening at the airfield for the American plane to put in its appearance, but finally he had to leave, ten minutes before it flew over the field.

As Williams and Yancey were taken to Rome they were conducted by General Italo Balbo, under secretary for aviation, to the premier's villa at Torenza. Mussolini, acting as minister for aeronautics, greeted them, kissing both on both cheeks, and congratulating them on their flight. He said he was sorry they had to land at Santander but assured them not to let that spoil their pleasure of the accomplishment.

DELAIED BY WINDS

Head winds over southern France and the Mediterranean which sometimes slowed their progress to 25 to 35 miles an hour greatly lengthened their flight from Santander, and since they were sighted only once en route to Italy, even gave rise to fears for their safety.

Leaving Santander at 11:20 a. m. (4:20 Appleton time), they took ten hours and ten minutes to traverse the 850 miles to Littorio field. They were sighted soon after leaving Santander at Biarritz, and then faded from view until they were reported again at Civita Vecchia, 50 miles north of Rome.

Their altitude averaged between 2,500 feet and 3,000 feet, but passing over Corsica, well inland, they were obliged to rise to 8,000 feet. They encountered headwinds just after they passed Bayonne, France, and needed seven hours to go from Bayonne to Marseilles.

"Over Toulouse," Captain Yancey told the Associated Press "we actually seemed to stand still. A five-foot strip of fabric was torn off underneath the fuselage and later I had the funny experience of putting my foot through the airplane."

It was fast getting dark at Littorio as the fliers landed. There were troops, police, and plain clothesmen everywhere, a small army having been provided to see to the personal safety of Premier Mussolini. While he was there, but the crowd of several thousands, cheering frantically, surged past the lines to the plane as the pair crawled out of the cabin.

PINEDO WELCOMES PAIR

Marquis de Pinedo, dean of Italian transatlantic fliers, stepped up to greet the Americans and the crowd, cheering wildly, picked all three up on shoulders and carried them off the field; there General Balbo and Alexander Kirk, secretary for the American embassy, took charge of them.

After being driven to the premier's villa they were taken to a Rome hotel, where the American embassy had obtained a suite of three rooms with red and gold furniture for them. The chef had fixed an elaborate meal for the men, and despite the fact they said they were famished they did not sit down to it immediately. Their thoughts were on their flight. Both were tired almost to exhaustion, but were extremely happy.

"I am glad we have done it," Yancey said. "I am sorry that we could not make it in one hop. If we could have taken off in the Pathfinder with the load of fuel we tried to carry in the Green Flash we would have made Rome in one jump easily."

Both aviators said they had no intention of attempting a flight back across the Atlantic to America, but said they would ship their plane back and probably attempt to earn the $50,000 prize offered by Col. W. D. Eastwood of Dallas, for a flight with three jumps from Dallas to Hongkong. Prior to this they may make an air tour of nearby Italian centers, finally taking a steamship home.

Williams professed to feel much better here than he did yesterday at Santander, and aboard the Pathfinder when crossing the Atlantic. The

Actress to Wed

Los Angeles — (AP) — Clara Bow, referred to as the "It" girl of the screen, is engaged to wed Harry Richman, musical comedy actor and night club proprietor of New York.

The marriage probably will take place within a month, pending completion of pictures which Miss Bow and Richman are making here.

Richman broke the news of the engagement yesterday. Many times reported engaged since the beginning of her film career, Miss Bow has had occasion to deny such reports, but this one she confirmed.

"As soon as we complete our respective pictures," said the actress, "we are going to be married."

Miss Bow, who has been slightly ill as the result of what her physician diagnosed as food poisoning, is recuperating at her Beverly Hills home.

The romance, which began when the actress was on a vacation in New York several months ago, was renewed when Richman arrived in Hollywood recently to take part in his first talkie.

Richman began his career at a cafe near Los Angeles, later going to New York where he first met with success. He was married to Yvonne Stevenson in 1918 at Santa Ana, Calif., and divorced in 1922. Miss Bow never has been married.

stomach ailment which bothered him then was almost cured, he said.

Both expressed the utmost delight with the entertainment given them at Santander, where, Yancey said, "They sure knew how to entertain."

AMBASSADOR FLETCHER congratulated Williams and Yancey today from his retreat at Montecatini congratulating them on their transatlantic flight.

"Heartiest congratulations of your pluck and perseverance and prowess," the message said, "I am proud of you and very sorry I shall be unable to be with you in person."

"It is a great thing you have done, and in finding the air road to Rome you have brought two of the greatest nations in the world closer together. Thousands some day will be following this new path."

Alexander C. Kirk, first secretary of the embassy, is acting as host to the aviators in Ambassador Fletcher's absence from the city.

SCHUMAN FARM RELIEF PROPOSAL IS NOW DEAD

Madison — (AP) — Senator John C. Schuman's proposal for state administered farm relief is now dead beyond recall. The senate Wednesday refused to reconsider the vote by which it had previously killed his "McNary-Haugen" bill, and the measure cannot again be taken.

Schuman's bill called for a state farm board to stabilize farm prices, and would have levied an occupational tax on dairy products to secure funds for financing the board's activities. The vote on reconsideration was 15 to 13.

CHICAGO REPEALS ITS ANCIENT LAW ON BATHING SUITS

Chicago — (AP) — In the matter of bathing suits the public was told by the city council today of let its conscience be its guide.

The council yesterday repealed the bathing suit ordinance, enacted in the exacting atmosphere of the discreet days which forbade bathers to wear, as one exaggerating wag put it, anything less than an overcoat, ear muffs, wool socks and hip boots.

Allderman Rowan explained that styles had been so modified that "enforcement of the old ordinance would be contrary to social customs."

OPIUM GROUP BEING TRACED BY FEDERAL

Seizure of Huge Supply Leads to Intensive Campaign on West Coast

San Francisco — (AP) — Ramifications of a purported international opium smuggling ring were being traced by government officials here today as they awaited instructions from Washington regarding Mrs. Susie Ying Kao, wife of the suspended Chinese vice consul here, in whose baggage a fortune in opium was found last Monday.

Investigators last night announced that "incriminating evidence" had been found in Mrs. Kao's personal baggage, which was opened after the opium had been found. It was said to have implicated "a high official" in the Chinese consulate here.

United States Attorney George T. Hatfield said only Mrs. Kao's quasi-diplomatic standing had prevented her arrest so far. He said he expected instructions from the department of justice today on the case.

FIND PROOF OF GUILT

Investigators declared they had found "indisputable proof of Mrs. Kao's culpability" in her personal baggage. She has insisted that she was unaware of the presence of opium in her trunk and that she had been made the dupe of smugglers.

Federal officials also said they had learned that Mrs. Kao would have received $23,000 if she had been successful in getting the opium past the inspectors here. They declared that prominent Chinese of San Francisco and Honolulu as well as others in China have been implicated and that the names of the ring's leaders were known to them.

John Smith, government agent, declared last night that the price of opium here had soared $50 a tin since the disclosures.

Resentment against Mrs. Kao ran high in Nationalist circles of China. Chinese language newspapers printed an appeal for a mass meeting "to make amends for this insult offered the American people by one of our own race."

Theosophist Dies

KATHERINE TINGLEY

Stockholm, Sweden — (AP) — Mrs. Katherine Tingley, 73, noted Theosophist leader, died today at Visingsö after an illness which followed a motor accident in Germany recently.

Her right thigh bone and left ankle were broken May 30 when the automobile in which she was riding swerved from the road near Osnabreck and crashed into a concrete bridge.

She recovered sufficiently to be released from the Osnabreck hospital and insisted she be taken to Visingsö, the headquarters of the Swedish Theosophist community. There her injuries, developed into the illness from which she never recovered.

She had a crowded lifetime and was prominently connected throughout, particularly in her later years, with Theosophism in its world wide aspects. She resided at various times in Cuba, the United States, and in Europe.

EQUITY DROPS FIVE ACTORS IN BATTLE WITH PRODUCERS

Action Considered First Step to Restrict Contracts to Members

Hollywood — (AP) — Suspension of five actors from the Actors' Equity association and the reinstatement of two others was announced by Frank Gilmore, president, early today.

While no statement was made as to the cause of the suspensions, it was understood they resulted from making contracts with talking motion picture products without sanction of the organization.

Those suspended were Tully Marshall, Anders Randolph, Raymond Hatton, Louise Dresser and Henry Otto.

The action taken at a meeting of the association here last night, was interpreted to be the first move of equity in its demand that producers here accept only contracts from paid-up members of equity.

The leading members of the industry here made a flat refusal of the demand, insisting that open shop would continue.

Rumors, the source of which could not be located, were current yesterday that the equity association planned a preliminary strike by setting today as the last in which its members may appear as extras with non-members in talking picture production work.

Producers maintained that the proposed walkout would not include a number sufficient to cause embarrassment.

Equity officials refused to comment on the strike reports.

Several prominent actors and actresses, members of equity, have protested against the association's policy regarding the talkies. A petition recently signed by some of the outstanding members of the movie colony and members of equity, asking a hearing before the president, was refused.

Gloria Grey and Jules Cowles were these reinstated. Reinstatement was voted when contracts previously questioned were found to conform with equity requirements.

Chautauqua Player

OLIVE KACKLEY

A prime favorite with her audience is Olive Kackley, the dramatic director of the chautauqua system, who heads the popular Kackley Players on the last day of legion chautauqua in the presentation of two recent Broadway successes. So insistent has been the demand of chautauqua patrons to see more of Miss Kackley as an actress in her own company, that this popular group will present this year two plays instead of one: in the afternoon, Thompson Buchanan's three act comedy, "Civillian Clothes," the comedy hit of a New York theatrical season, and in the evening, William Hodge's great play, "For All Of Us." Incidentally, this is the first time Miss Kackley has ever presented on chautauqua and it is acclaimed by New York critics as the best of the many good plays written by that author-actor. The legion chautauqua is playing at the Wilson school grounds.

NOBODY INJURED AS CAR LEAVES HIGHWAY

A car driven by Fred Kuester, 18, Naymut-st., Menasha, ran into a ditch on the west side of Devil's Bend on the Lake-rd about 11 o'clock Wednesday evening, when the driver failed to follow the curve. Kuester was accompanied by Jerome Gordy, 18, Naymut-st., and two girls. None of the occupants was injured and the car was not damaged.

ITALIAN MERCHANT QUIZZED IN MURDER

Appears at Police Headquarters After Being Sought for Ten Days

New York — (AP) — An article merchant who owns an armed limousine emerged today as a new figure in the investigation of the slaying of Frank Marlow, Broadway racketeer.

Bought ten days by the police, Ciro Terranova, who, Police Commissioner Whalen contends, had an engagement with Marlow on the night of June 24, when he was slain during a ride from Broadway to Queens, accepted an "invitation" to visit headquarters last night.

He was questioned five hours and then permitted to return to his $52,000 home at Pelham, N. Y. He denied having an engagement with Marlow the night of the slaying, but Commissioner Whalen said he would be confronted today by five witnesses held by the police.

"The five witnesses who dined with Marlow on the night of his death," said Whalen, "and who saw him greeted by a man outside the restaurant shortly after the party broke up, will be asked to look at Terranova."

"All of them have said they saw only the back of the man outside the restaurant. We shall ask them to tell us whether Terranova's back looks like the one they say they saw."

Two of Terranova's brothers were slain in gang feuds several years ago and Terranova gave the fear of sharing a like fate as his reason for his armored car.

YANCEY'S MOTHER FORGETS ILLNESS TO PRAISE FLIER

Chicago — (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Yancey forgot her own illness temporarily last night to rejoice with relatives and friends over the successful flight of her son, Capt. Lewis Q. Yancey, to Rome, in the Pathfinder.

"He's a crackjack! I knew he'd make it!" she cried.

Surrounded by Mrs. Ruby Pierson, her daughter, Ruby Rose Pierson, 14, her niece, and neighborhood friends, Mrs. Yancey, despite the heart trouble which has kept her confined for some time, chatted and laughed gaily over her son's feat.

"Neither Lewis nor his wife told me he was going," she said. "They thought I'd worry. But I followed the newspapers. A great boy, my son. I'm mighty proud of him."

The pilot always was adventurous his mother said, relating that when he was 15 years old he ran away from school and was found four months later aboard a battleship.

"We thought he was going to be a bad one," she declared. "But in 1920 he came home with the Wimbledon cup, champion rifle shot of the world, and with a medal from President Wilson."

"His father always said he was a world-beater, even when the kid cut the pants leg off Mr. Yancey's new suit to mend his own."

"Yancey's father, a sergeant on the Chicago police for many years, died eight years ago. Mrs. Yancey now lives with the Piersons."

HOME ECONOMICS GROUPS OUTLINE NEXT YEAR'S WORK

Program Is Discussed by Club Leader at Achievement Day Program

BY W. F. WINSEY
As a part of the Achievement Day program of the home economics groups of Outagamie county presented in the Methodist church, Wednesday, Miss Marjorie Thompson, county leader of women's groups and 4-H club girls, suggested workable plans for local and county organization and methods of conducting meetings. She advised a full attendance of the group leaders at each meeting, the election of a president and secretary-treasurer, and the appointment of committees with definite jobs, especially a committee to plan and supervise the program for each meeting. Recreation and music should have a place among the exercises of each meeting, according to Miss Thompson.
"Let us work to have a county federation of local home economics groups next year," she said.
Achievement day was a demonstration of the work of twenty-four groups of women the past year under the direction of Miss Edna Huffman, of the extension service of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture. Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones, of the College of Agriculture expects a great advance this year under the leadership of Miss Thompson, who has been engaged on full time. Mrs. Jones congratulated Outagamie-co for having a full time leader of home-making groups and a county agent and said that in these lines Outagamie-co was one of the best equipped counties in Wisconsin. As the support of home economics leaders comes from the federal government and the state, the employment of Miss Thompson will not cost Outagamie-co a cent, and the counties that do not employ such leaders are losers, according to Mrs. Jones.
RECOMMEND CLUB WORK
"Miss Thompson is planning a great many things for you women and your daughters to do this year," said Mrs. Jones. "When your girls are better qualified to assist you in your homes, all hands will have more time for pleasure and recreation.
"Every woman should belong to some club and become interested in home and community improvements. Women can do mighty things when they are banded together in any enterprise.
"If you people hit upon a community project such as cleaning up and beautifying a school yard or any other, suggest the improvement to Miss Thompson and I am sure she will help you directly or indirectly.
"Hot lunches for school children is a project worthy of being taken up in any district. Do you know why arithmetic is assigned to the forenoon work of the school? It is kept from the afternoon program and given that place because the pupils are fresh from a good meal and can do clear thinking. In the afternoon their brains are often sluggish from lack of proper nourishment. A mother never forgets a hot lunch for

NEW LONDON GIRL FILES BANKRUPTCY PETITION

A petition in bankruptcy, by Miss Faye Parks, New London, has been forwarded to Charles H. Forward, referee in bankruptcy at Oshkosh, for hearing. Mr. Forward set July 19 at the date for hearing on the petition. Miss Parks claims as exempt her $1,000 insurance policy. She lists $1,100 assets, all of which are claimed exempt. Liabilities are listed at $499.36.

her working husband but she may overlook a hot lunch for her children in the schools."

Only 52 herds of the 3,600 in Outagamie-co belong to the old line herd improvement associations and I believe that is why the production of a large number of cows is below 200 pounds of butterfat, County Agent Gus Sell said.

"Three-fourths of the average farm income in Outagamie-co comes from the dairy cows and on the production of the herd depends the number of new hats the women and girls of the home are to have a year and whether the home is to be provided with modern equipment," he said.

"The women of Outagamie-co are as vitally interested in the production of the cows as are their husbands and they often give physical help in the care of the cows."

TESTING BETTERS HERDS
"The time it takes to increase the production of a herd depends upon what the herd is doing. As the average production of cows is 200 pounds of butterfat I believe there is a chance for improvement. The 200 pound cow is a boarder and is drawing on some other source of farm income for her support.

"We have better herds as a result of testing. Farmers who are testing their cows are getting rid of the cows that are not paying for their feed while those that are not testing are keeping such cows and raising calves from them. Each herd must produce an average of 300 pounds of butterfat to pay.

"Success in milk production depends on feeding balanced rations on weeding out poor cows, and on breeding from the best producers.

"We must raise the calves of our best cows only and the only way to find them out which ones are our best cows is by testing. We certainly cannot pick out a good cow by the color of her coat or by the length of her tail."

Mr. Sell described and compared the two kinds of cow testing in operation in this county, the old line and the "mail order" plan.

"A survey of three years cow testing in Outagamie-co showed that the herd production has been raised 80 pounds and the boarder cows have been eliminated from each herd tested.

Harvey Schlitz, president of the Appleton chamber of commerce welcomed the visitors. Mrs. John Schoettler presided. Miss Thomas led the singing with Miss Huffman at the piano. Miss Virginia Steffen entertained with musical solos. "Good Gracious Grandmother" was staged by the Bear Creek group. "Goose, Moley" by the Appleton group, and "Grandmother's Dream" by the Seymour group.

Plans for camping on boy scout grounds, Lake Winnebago for the home economics women, July 25, 26, and 27, were introduced.

ROADS FUNDS ARE IN GOOD CONDITION, REPORT INDICATES

Only Two Funds Overdrawn While Nine Others Have Balances

Only two county highway funds show overdrafts while nine others show comfortable margins, according to the monthly report prepared by Frank Appleton, highway commissioner.

The two funds showing deficits on July 1 were the machinery fund and the state patrol fund. The former has an overdraft of $25,020.38 while the state patrol fund is $49,571.99 overdrawn. The overdraft in the machinery fund was reduced by $13,000 during the last month as a result of machinery rentals and other receipts. The deficit in the state patrol fund will be wiped out as soon as funds arrive from the state.

Mr. Appleton explained that patrol was done and paid for from county funds and later this money was reimbursed by the state. For this reason the overdraft exists.

Fund balances are as follows: Garage heating fund, $1,013.93; snow removal, $127.84; road construction, $69,718.67; town roads and village streets, $13,551.30; bridge fund, exclusive of county and town aid, $6,032.96; county and town aid bridge fund, $655.98; county and town aid road construction, $19,204.27; emergency bridge fund, $3,267.73; general maintenance fund, $20,139.28.

This latter fund is made up of $3,319 for end wall destruction; $7,130.43 for spring break up; and $9,689.85 for county patrol work.

"DEATH CURVE" TO BE REMOVED ON ROUTE 41

"Death curve" near the Black Wolf church on Highway 41 between Oshkosh and Fond du Lac soon will be eliminated. The Winnebago highway department is grading a new stretch of road over which the highway is to be routed. Several fatal accidents have occurred at this sharp curve and its removal is another step in the efforts expended this summer to remove dangerous curves from Highway 41. The church has been moved back of the new road. The new curve will be completed in two or three weeks.

MAYOR HOAN FACING SUIT IN MILWAUKEE

Legal Action Recommended to Recover Approximately $20,000 for City

Milwaukee.—(AP)—Filing of suit, or other legal action, against Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, seeking the recovery of approximately $20,000 for the city, last night was recommended by the common council's special committee that has been investigating alleged city hall abuses.

In accordance with the resolution approved by the committee last night and which is to be submitted to the council at a special meeting Friday, the mayor may be sued for all profits made in connection with the sale of surplus army foods in 1920; interest, at a rate to be fixed by the court, on the foodstuffs furnished out to city employees for overtime service in connection with the sale; interest on the money paid to such employees and such portion of the income tax on the fund and on the earnings on it during the last nine years, provided it is held that the sale was a private venture on the part of the mayor, that the city is entitled to under the state law.

W. H. Timlin, special counsel, recommended the law suit because the mayor contends that the fund is "legally but not morally" his and that he has the right to say what part of it shall go to the city for the purpose of combating profiteering in foodstuffs. That question would be settled by such legal action, Timlin said.

Members of the committee were not inclined to question the mayor's motives in conducting the sale, but seemed to feel that it was a legal question that would have to be settled definitely. Lest the matter be outwaded by the statute of limitations, immediate action was urged on the council.

Should the body adopt the committee report, the measure will then go to the mayor for his signature and he will be placed in the position of ordering a law suit to be directed against himself.

FARM GROUP APPROVES HERD IMPROVEMENT PLAN

Plans for a campaign to increase the number of farmers belonging to cow testing associations in Outagamie-co., as outlined by Gus Sell, county agent, were approved by the county agricultural committee at a special meeting Wednesday evening. Mr. Sell is making arrangements for improving the herds in the county and increasing production.

The committee also decided that the forms for a model septic tank for farm use would be rented to county farmers without charge. The forms have been built under direction of the committee and the only requirement will be a deposit of $5 which will be refunded to the farmer when he returns the forms. Forms will be given to the farmers in the order in which applications are filed.

CHAUTAUQUA MAY RETURN NEXT YEAR

Executive Committee of Oney Johnston Post Approves 1930 Engagement

The Central Community Chautauqua, which is closing a five day stay in Appleton Thursday night, probably will return next summer, it was decided Wednesday when the executive committee of Oney Johnston post of the American legion voted to bring the company here next year, subject to approval of post members.

Programs presented by the company during the last few days have been especially pleasing and rated on a par with lyceum and artist series programs brought to Appleton during the winter and spring. Persons who have attended programs have been highly pleased.

Among the persons who asked the legion to bring the chautauqua back next summer were Dr. H. E. Peabody and the Rev. Henry S. Gately. They appeared before the committee and commended the programs asking that the chautauqua be made a permanent summer institution.

Approval of action of the executive committee will be asked of the post at the next meeting, probably in September.

C. C. WILL SPONSOR AIR MAIL CAMPAIGN

Defer Plans for Formal Dedication of George A. Whiting Airport

The air service committee of Appleton chamber of commerce Wednesday approved a campaign in Appleton to stimulate use of the air mail. The first step in the program will be the circulation of letters by William H. Zuehlke, acting postmaster, to merchants and business men reminding them of the advantages of air mail.

The committee also will attempt to revive interest in lighting the air mail line between Milwaukee and Green Bay. Several weeks ago the department of commerce authorized lighting the Fox river valley route but later rescinded its action. The plan called for a beacon light every ten miles between Milwaukee and Green Bay.

Plans for formal dedication of the George A. Whiting airport were deferred by the committee until a later date. David Smith is chairman of the committee.

SCHMIEGE TAX BILL IS SENT TO GOVERNOR

Madison.—(AP)—The Schmiede reciprocal inheritance tax bill which passed both legislative houses after a protracted Senate fight has gone to Gov. Kohler for signature or veto.

The Severson senate bill making it mandatory that conviction in contempt of court cases must be by unanimous jury verdict, rather than by majority verdict, was concurred in today by the assembly Wednesday and now goes to the governor.

The bill was strongly supported by the Wisconsin Federation of Labor. In contempt of court cases arising out of strike disputes, convictions are secured by majority jury verdicts by packing the jury with a majority of persons of anti-organization leanings, the laborites charged.

RYAN IS ELECTED STATE CEMETERY ASSOCIATION HEAD

Badger Officials Select Sheboygan as Next Convention City

John C. Ryan, Appleton, superintendent of St. Mary cemetery was elected president of the Association of Wisconsin Cemetery Superintendents and Officials at the closing session of the second annual convention of the association at Hotel Wetherill Thursday morning. Mr. Ryan, formerly vice-president, was elected vice president. H. W. Gausewitz, Milwaukee, secretary-treasurer; and A. L. Mohr, Sheboygan, member of the executive committee. Sheboygan was selected as the 1930 convention city.

Thursday morning Mr. Ryan, who has had 20 years of experience in the culture of evergreen for cemetery use, read a paper on the subject.

"The best rule to follow in growing evergreens," said Mr. Ryan, "is to catch them young, and transplant them in your own grounds every two years until they are about 10 years old. After 10 years the root system is started in good shape, and the next 10 years they will add from six to eight feet in height."

Mr. Ryan said of the care that must be taken in keeping the sap on roots of transplanted evergreens from hardening, and the necessity of transplanting them every two years, despite the temptation to let them grow where they were first planted.

He explained that evergreens thrive best in a sandy loam, although they often grow in a heavy clay soil, and told in detail the procedure of transplanting the trees.

FAVORS BLUE SPRUCE

Blue spruce heads the list of evergreens. In the estimation of Mr. Ryan, with green spruce, only half as expensive, running a close second. Black Hills spruce comes next, followed by White spruce and the American and pyramidal Arbor Vitae.

Mr. Ryan closed his speech with a warning to "watch the water." B. Currie, Forest Home cemetery, Milwaukee, spoke Wednesday evening on Lawnmaking and Maintenance. He carried the development of a new lawn through the stages of rough grading, surface pulverizing, seeding, and care during the first year.

Speaking of lawns in general, Mr. Currie gave information concerning watering, fertilizing, control, eradication of weeds and other pests, repairing and remaking, shade difficulties and the problem of chemical changes in the soil.

He exploded the theory that watering lawns when the sun is shining is harmful, pointing out that if watering is done so that it approximates a light, steady, long-continued rainfall, it can be as beneficial as night-watering. He suggested an annual top-dressing of barnyard manure, advised several remedies in the eradication of weeds, and explained the frequent detriment caused by too much shade.

The convention closed Thursday afternoon with a drive around the city and a demonstration of equipment at Riverside cemetery.

DIVORCE IS GRANTED "COMPANIONATE" PAIR

Muskogee Okla.—(AP)—Muskogee's first companionate marriage has ended in a conventional divorce. District Judge E. V. Vernon granted a divorce to D. Halflit, aged 47, from his wife, formerly Dr. Flora Perry, on grounds of mental cruelty.

Halflit first asked annulment of the marriage, accompanying his petition with a prenuptial contract signed by himself and his wife, which set out that theirs was to be a companionate marriage which could be ended at the request of either party. The first petition set forth only that Mrs. Halflit wished to end the marriage.

Judge Vernon held that this was not in compliance with the law and Halflit filed an amended petition asking a divorce.

CHARGE BANKING TRUST STRANGLING FINANCES

Chicago.—(AP)—Charging that a "banking trust has a stranglehold on municipal finances," Chicago aldermen have refused to allow the school board to seek $40,000,000 in tax warrants to a banking syndicate headed by Halsey, Stuart and Company.

The aldermanic objection to the last night despite protests that Chicago schools would be unable to open in September unless the warrants were sold.

A resolution calling for an investigation of the entire banking situation as it pertains to Chicago was adopted.

Alderman Jacob Arvey, who led the fight against the sale, declared: "The time has come when we can no longer endure the intolerable gouging by the big bankers."

The aldermanic objection to the Halsey, Stuart and Company proposal was that 6 per cent interest was to be charged the school board while the syndicate kept a large part of the principal at 2 per cent and released it to customers at 6 per cent or more. It was charged the bankers would in this way make a profit of 10 per cent.

New Paper Currency Is Distributed By Banks

Where you did your banking Wednesday morning was important, if you were interested in getting a bundle of the new paper currency, for only two banks received their allotments. The other institutions will receive theirs within a few days.

Approximately $55,000 worth of the new money was received, in denominations of one, two, five, ten and twenty dollars, but this amount failed to meet the demand. Everybody wanted new money, and lots of it, but local bankers had to follow a system of giving out only partial amounts to all customers.

Five outstanding advantages are foreseen in the use of the new paper currency, which is about two-thirds the size of the present bills. The smaller size of the new note makes it more easily handled, and the crisper and stronger paper used in the manufacture of it is expected to add to the durability of the notes. The folding strength is said to be twice as great as that of the old.

The different denominations can be more easily identified and memorized. Varied-colored seals for the different certificates also is seen as advantageous. Great simplicity of design, doing away with the multiplicity common in the old money, it is believed by the Secret Service, will make counterfeiting more difficult in that the new design will be more easily memorized and less easily confused.

MISSISSIPPI FLOOD GROUP IN MEETING

Memphis, Tenn.—(AP)—The troubles that flow with rivers and the methods of remedying them today were before congressmen and delegates to the annual meeting of the Mississippi River Flood Control association.

Polls of the 100 and more valley state leaders indicated there were many problems, and almost as many suggested solutions, as there were delegates to consider them.

Riley J. Wilson, United States representative for Louisiana, had prepared an address in which he renewed his suggestion that reservoirs be built along the Red, Yazoo, Arkansas, St. Francis, White, Mississippi, Ohio and Illinois rivers to provide at least partial control of overflow. He estimated the 11 reservoirs he suggested would cost about $242,000,000.

MAHAN BOY STAYS WITH HIS PARENTS

Will Be Subject to Jurisdiction of Kentucky Children's Bureau

Frankfort, Ky. —(AP)—The controversy over the fate of Carl Newton Mahan, 6-year-old slayer, who for a time was under sentence serve until he was 21 in the state reform school, was at an end today with the boy paroled in the custody of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mahan, of Paintsville.

Carl will be subject to the jurisdiction of the Kentucky children's bureau, however. The decision bringing to an end a case that had attracted nation-wide interest, was reached at an executive meeting here yesterday of the members of the bureau's governing board, which the parents attended.

When the boy was brought to trial in May for killing his playmate, Cecil Van Hoose, 8, in a quarrel over a piece of scrap iron, he was found guilty by a jury of murder and sentenced by County Judge John W. Butcher to the reform school.

Re-endorsement of this bill will be asked by the legislative committee, it was said. The federation in 1927 passed a resolution authorizing its presentation and shortly after the inauguration of President Hoover, Miss Connole, Miss Lena Madson Phillips, national federation president, and Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormack, Illinois congresswoman, interviewed Secretary of Treasury Mellon and Senator Reed Smoot of Utah in its behalf.

LITTLE LIQUOR CAPTURED

From records of the Canadian and United States governments the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment has collected some startling figures. It finds that the Canadian government is clearing, through its border customs offices, $30,000,000 worth of liquor a year, officially consigned to American ports. Records of liquor seizures indicate that only 1.2 per cent of this liquor is captured or destroyed on this side of the border.

This nation pays more than $100,000,000 a year for the Canadian liquor so consigned—the money going in varying proportions to bootleggers and middlemen, to occasional bribes of weak border patrolmen, to legal taxes to the Canadian government and to the original distiller. There is still other liquor which comes into the United States from the North without getting into any of these records because it is smuggled out to avoid Canadian taxes.

Although there is undoubtedly another and more hopeful side to the prohibition situation, this one is bad and demands serious thought and action. The sooner something is done to stop this illicit and costly traffic, the better for the friendship of the two nations concerned and the better for the safety and peace of mind of honest and self-respecting citizens on both sides of the border. Unfortunately there is very little agreement as to what the "something" is which must be done.

SPEED THAT IS SPEED

Speed fiends who think 200 miles an hour is fast for an automobile, or 300 for an airplane, should consider the announcement made by astronomers of the Mount Wilson Observatory in California. They have been studying distant nebulae through their 100-inch reflecting telescope, and find one is moving 3,100 miles a second, one 4,600 miles a second and one 4,900 miles a second. This is the greatest speed ever observed in heavenly bodies.

The information, by the way, comes through a stretch of vacant space which the astronomers reckon as equal to 50,000,000 light-years. A light-year is the neat little sum of 6,000,000,000,000 miles. Multiply that by the former figure, and you will know how far away our farthest news source is.

It makes a lot of ciphers. Pondering such problems, a mortal may wonder whether the whole universe itself isn't a big cipher. It would seem so, according to Einstein. If his theory of a "closed universe" and "curved space" doesn't make a huge round "O", what does it make?

It adds to our mental confusion to learn from the astronomers that the nebulae referred to, like all others observed at great distances, seem to be moving away from us. The farther they are, the faster they fly. The universe seems thus to be flying to pieces.

And if space is closed, as Einstein says, when will they start flying back? Where are they flying to, if space is infinite? Or are they really moving together, according to old Newton's law of gravitation, even while they seem to be moving apart? But these things are too much for us. We turn for relief to the sporting page or the bridge game.

GOLDENROD IS ABSOLVED

The goldenrod is one of the most attractive features of the summer landscape in the American middle west. Yet, to many people, it is not a beauty at all, but a blight and a curse—because of hay fever.

Recently a number of physicians have suggested that the goldenrod may not be as culpable as we have supposed; and now comes O. C. Durham, botanist, with an article in the current issue of The American Druggist, to say that goldenrod is almost entirely blameless.

Extended tests, he says, have proved to him that 90 per cent of all hay fever is caused by the ripened pollen of the common ragweed—which, incidentally, is grown on practically every square mile of land east of the Mississippi.

Goldenrod's pollen, says Mr. Durham, is too heavy and resinous to be carried on the wind. Consequently, it cannot be blamed by the hay fever sufferer for his troubles.

INDIAN IN INDUSTRY

The department of the interior, surveying the economic conditions of the Indians, finds on the western reservations "some 7,000 able-bodied men who might be put to work." These available workers are regarded as the first line of an army of idle and impoverished aborigines who might be brought eventually into the American labor field. Thus the Indian is scheduled for drafting into industry. He is the last racial unit of this country to be industrialized.

It is probably necessary, and perhaps desirable for the future welfare of the Indians themselves. Learning to work like white men, they may learn to live like white men, and this adapting themselves to a white man's environment, they may survive. In their present isolation on remote reservations which do not supply them with the old resources for their own sort of existence, they might perish. Civilization has a way of destroying the simpler folks who do not surrender to its mode of life.

Yet it seems a pity. Where is the romance of a grimy Indian in overalls, ministering to quantity production and yielding himself to standardization?

FIREWORKS CASUALTIES

Nearly 200 persons lost their lives in the Fourth of July celebration this year, largely by drowning. At least seven persons were killed by fireworks, and others may die from injuries. Several thousand were injured. In New York city alone 500 children were treated in hospitals. This casualty record is an improvement over last year. The improvement was in those states and cities which have either outlawed fireworks altogether or have subjected their sale and use to very rigid restrictions. In Michigan the new anti-fireworks law was reported as "most effective."

All of the fireworks exploded by individuals this year from one end of the country to the other were not worth one of the seven lives lost on account of their use. They do not represent a patriotic observance of the Fourth that cannot be better expressed in other ways. In fact, as employed they have lost practically all true significance of Independence day. Their toll on life and limb is a sorry commentary on our intelligence and restraint. That we should continue to tolerate their abuses and this casualty list year after year in the name of patriotism is a little ironical to say the least.

GOOD OLD DAYS?

Here are some food prices taken from a market report printed in 1841: Flour, $3.50 a barrel; corn meal, 25 to 30 cents a bushel; bacon, 5 cents a pound; fresh hams, 6 cents a pound; smoked hams, 7½ to 8½ cents a pound; white wine for family use, 50 cents a gallon; Kentucky whisky, 16½ cents a gallon.

The last two items may be ignored in this discussion. Food was evidently "dirt cheap." Other things were in proportion to those quoted. Yet it is doubtful whether the average family had as much to eat then as it has now, and it certainly had far less variety and wholesomeness in the groceries and provisions available.

Now we have better, cleaner, healthier food, more tastefully arrayed and more hygienically cared for en route from producer to consumer. We pay more for it, of course. But we have more money to pay. It is we rather than our grandfathers who are enviable.

Seaweeds have no roots in a general sense, only holdfasts or anchors. They absorb air, water and salts through the surface of their fronds.

Although more than 150 miles of passageways have already been explored in Kentucky's Mammoth Cave, many miles are still to be seen.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—Summer estates that stretch for miles in Westchester county and along the shores of Long Island again are gay with frolicking parties and sun-tanned informality is in vogue. Some of the sprawling, yet pretentious, country places are said to cost their owners as much as $1,000 a day in upkeep, but no longer is the money spent on brilliant balls, as it was in the age of Harry Lehr and the grand Newport parties of Mrs. Astor.

The change, reported by a seasoned society scout, has been brought about by the upgrowth of country clubs, beach clubs and roadhouses. The modern matron takes, or sends, her guests out to the golf course, tennis courts or beach during the day, to the country club or the roadhouse at night.

The guests do what they wish when and where they wish. The rule that a woman breaking into New York society must first break into Newport still stands. There are, however, other growing colonies of the rich—the Hamptons of Long Island and Rye in Westchester for those who have yachts; Katonah, another Westchester town, for those who prefer to pass their days on the bridge paths, and other spots.

Barriers weakened
In most of these places live people who do things, rather than those who are merely somebodies—actors, painters, writers. Congenial folk, their gregarious habits are infectious, so that just the other night the mistress of a mansion at Southampton provided refreshments for a group of neighbors who were, nevertheless, strangers.

Social distinctions would not have permitted her entertaining them on her own grounds, but the informality of country life now is such that when she observed them from her porch, apparently without food or drink to wind up their festivities, she sent her butler over with a basket of cakes and a pitcher of lemonade.

WESTWARD HO!
California, rather than Europe, is getting many of the Broadway folk this summer. And some are even being called away from their favorite rustic retreats by the talkie opportunities of Hollywood. Virginia Harned, Courtenay has closed her home in Rye and left for the west coast, where her husband, William Courtenay, is acting before the microphone. About the only local stars still in town to bid her farewell at a tea were Morris Gest, Blanche Ring, Charles Winninger, George Kelly, Glenn Hunter and Marie Cahill.

And speaking of the new movie opportunities, even the short comedy films are giving stage folk who are pretty sure of their contracts as players who have had stage experience, as, for instance, Lloyd Hamilton, Johnny Arthur, Lupino Lane, Johnny Burke (of the one-man soldier vaudeville act) and Virginia Lee Corbin. Less familiar names make the list of legitimate or musical comedy people in the slapstick studios a long one.

Today's Anniversary

HAMILTON SHOT IN DUEL

On July 11, 1804, Aaron Burr, vice president of the United States, and Alexander Hamilton, the famous statesman, fought a duel in which Hamilton was mortally wounded. Because Hamilton had prevented him from being made president, Burr challenged Hamilton. The latter feeling that by refusing to acknowledge the accepted code, of which he strongly disapproved, he would lose his influence, accepted.

The duel took place at Weehawken, N. J., and Hamilton fell, mortally wounded, at the first fire—having, it is said, discharged his own weapon in the air. He died the following day.

Having failed to satisfy his political ambition in the east, Burr got together soldiers and adventurers from the western states and sailed down the Ohio and the Mississippi rivers to carry out some schemes not fully understood. It is thought that his plan was to establish a personal government in the southwest, possibly including the Spanish possessions in Mexico. In due time he was taken and tried for treason, but was acquitted for lack of evidence. He died in disgrace.

PERILS OF THE BATH

A Virginia doctor, Guy Hinsdale, M. D., reports the sad case of a major in the medical corps who went through the war unscathed, then on his way home from France grew careless, ventured into a porcelain bath tub, slipped, and suffered fracture of two ribs. Dr. Hinsdale enumerates 15 other reasons why the wet wash is risky, none of which interest me much, but I understand some folks still indulge in this rite now and then and if such there be I want to warn 'em. For example, the late Sir Arthur Pearson, a great publisher, lived in comparative ease and comfort for years and years; finally he decided to take a bath, and while in the bath he slipped, his head struck a faucet, and he was stunned so that he drowned before aid could reach him. These cases go to show what a little bath will do. Who knows, maybe both of these unfortunate men thought they could take it or leave it alone. My policy is to leave it alone as long as folks leave me alone. Not at all—that's just where you are wrong. You can't gauge a man's cleanliness by the number of bathtubs he rents or owns.

Faintness or vertigo is more liable to happen in hot water bathing, especially when a weak person takes a bath shortly after eating or when very tired. Such people should leave the door open and have the hall porter or maid look in on them now and then.

John L. Sullivan, famous champion of the ring died in his bath. What chance have you and I?

Epileptics may have a seizure while in a bath and drown. Mark Twain's daughter was such an end.

Apoplexy (stroke of paralysis from cerebral hemorrhage) may happen in a bath tub as well as at dinner or on the street; this, too, might readily lead to drowning in the tub. I do not believe a bath is likely to lead to apoplexy, or to determine an attack in one of apoplexy type.

Young children have drowned when they fell into a tubful of water in the absence of an attendant. Invalids or convalescents subject to faintness have met a similar end.

A lady brought suit against a hotel recently because when she turned on the shower marked "cold" she was scalded. About 10 years ago a New York hotel settled a similar claim for $20,000, made by a guest who was knocked down by the force of the scalding water. A woman taking a shower bath in a public bathroom in New York slipped, grasped a faucet to save herself, turned on scalding water and steam, which burned her fatally.

Many persons have suffered electric shocks from touching lamp or other electric switches or buttons while in the water. A current of low voltage may prove fatal in such a circumstance because the wet surface of the body offers less resistance than the dry body. Washington youth was electrocuted when he reached from the tub for an electric heater.

Countless fatalities have occurred from asphyxiation from the use of gas or oil heaters in bathroom, without flue connection.

Again I warn readers. Bathe if you must but first make you will.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Seventeen

I am 17 and I only know what the other girls and a woman have told me. Would you please send what a young girl should know? Can diseases be contracted by kissing? (M. K.)

Answer—Send stamped envelope, mention your age, and repeat question. Yes, diseases can be contracted by kissing. There are numerous records of persons being inoculated with syphilis by a kiss.

Father Is Anxious

My father objects to my smoking, as he claims it will stunt my growth and that a person forms an unnecessary habit—though he himself smokes extensively. He also objects to my mother smoking. Do you think it will hurt either of us physically? (Betty)

Answer—It may not stunt physical growth but I think father is right—it does stunt or retard character development, in a child. I believe it is all right for a mother, any adult, to smoke moderately, temperately. An adult who smokes temperately does not resort to tobacco in the course of a day's work or play, or in the course of a meal.

A smoke two after the day is done is temperate. Anything more than that is quite likely to have deleterious effects on health.

Not So Archaic
As a student in Normal I have been greatly interested in your health teachings. I must say that some of them are very radical and contrary to what we are taught at school, although your teachings seem practical. I would like to have complete information about the vitamins. (C. Y.)

Answer—It is not that my teachings are so radical, but the things they teach at school are so much more archaic, as it requires 10 years or more to get new knowledge through the textbook hopper. McCollum & Simmons' "Food, Health and Nutrition," published by the authors, Baltimore, at $1.50, ought to be in your library. It tells all about the vitamins and other things. Or send a stamped envelope and ask for my monograph on vitamins (I gleaned most of it from the book mentioned).

Pruritus
Severe itching all over body. No breaking out. Various salves give no relief. Bathing seems to aggravate. (E. D.)

Answer—Send stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for information for relief of bath pruritus. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—A tall, slender, earnest young man serving his first term as a member of the United States senate has launched a crusade on capitol hill in behalf of the struggling artists of this country.

Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland has appealed to congress to adopt a plan which he is confident will prove a boon to art in America, will offer encouragement for those engaged in this profession, and will secure for the government the works of the country's most eminent artists.

And he thinks $50,000 a year will be all the money required. Briefly, Senator Tydings' plan is this:

Annually, in Washington, there would be a national exhibition open to all American painters and sculptors.

Those submitting the five best paintings and those submitting the five best objects of sculpture would receive awards: First, $10,000; second, $5,000; third, $2,500; fourth, $1,500; fifth, $1,000. Certificates and medals would also be given the five painters and five sculptors whose work entitles them to money awards.

GOVERNMENT TO KEEP THEM
The prize-winning works would become the property of the United States government.

The selections would be made by a national board of painting and sculpture, composed of either three or five men noted for their training and skill.

Suppose such a policy had been followed during the last century. There would now be in the possession of the government some 500 paintings. Senator Tydings believes these paintings would tell the story of the quarter century past far more eloquently than it could be told in any other way.

THE NATION'S EPICS
The gold rush, the long covered wagon trains across the country, the war with Mexico, the civil war, slave life in the south, the old Robert E. Lee playing up the Mississippi, the great round-ups in the west—these are the building up of American industry, the launching of gigantic ships, the development of cities, horse racing, duelling, stirring moments in our national life at Washington, the war with Spain, aviation and the world war—

"We have no such story of our country preserved in the national gallery at Washington," says Senator Tydings. "We have not that because it was never begun. We can begin it now, and at a very little cost."

He believes the time has come when the government must do more to encourage art than merely purchase a statue of some person noted in American life.

Since the government aids science and commerce, why shouldn't it do something to encourage art? is his query.

FLASHES FROM HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—In the crowd gathered at the station platform in San Francisco recently to witness the arrival of the Hollywood special celebrating the opening of a new theater there a little real-life story was enacted that probably escaped the notice of the star-gazing swarms.

It was the reunion between Johnny Mack Brown, Alabama gridiron hero who dashed to screen fame, and Mrs. L. J. Barnes, known for years in Tuscaloosa, Ala., seat of the university, as "Mother," Barnes to the football teams.

A brave little woman in black, "Mother" waited eagerly in the front line of the throng, her feet tapping joyously to the music of the band and belling her 72 years.

As the arriving stars left the special and threaded their way to the street, fling past her, "Mother" had eyes for none of them. But when Johnny Mack came to view she rushed for him. And Johnny Mack greeted her, as he always does, with a kiss. She clung to his arm as they walked away, and they talked long on the platform. When Johnny at length had to join his waiting party it was with the promise to see her again at the hotel.

NO WONDER
"It was the first time I've seen him in two years, except in pictures," she said later, trembling with joyous excitement. "I raised him—him and my own boy, who played with him on the Alabama team."

When Mr. Barnes died "Mother" left her beloved Dixie to live with her children in San Rafael, near San Francisco.

A little host of stars, some big, others little, made personal appearances at the theater that night, and most of them, because they have been seen in numerous pictures in San Francisco, received "big hands" from the local audience.

But when the comparative newcomers took their bows there was to be sensed a ripple of uncertainty. Paul Muni, one of the new talkie lights, who has been hailed by many critics as a new and distinctive type of screen actor, was so greeted. The reaction of this typical audience serves to indicate how radically box-office values may be adjusted within a year or so.

FANS REMAIN FANS
Meanwhile, fans apparently will be fans, and some as rabid as the woman who, when Sharon Lynn passed in front of her to reach the stage, exclaimed:

"Oh, please pass close to me; rub against me!"

So it looks as if the scribes will scribble Hollywood's human stories for years to come, in vain, and for many moviegoers the stars will remain always semi-divinities living charmed lives.

BARN EQUIPMENT DEALERS AGREE ON COMPETITION RULES

"Cut-throat" Methods Are Eliminated by Recent Conference

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Washington Bureau of Post-Crescent

Washington — The "buddle" into which Wisconsin barn equipment manufacturers went with other representatives of the industry has resulted in the adoption of 11 rules to prevent cut-throat competition.

The Federal Trade Commission, under the auspices of which the trade practice conference was held in Chicago on May 1, today refused, however, to approve the practice, approved by the industry of distributing current price lists throughout the industry.

The barn equipment manufacturers adopted a resolution recommending that each distributor distribute to the entire industry current price lists which shall include the terms of sale and all subsequent changes made.

In certain cases, such distribution of price lists has been held to be in violation of fair trade laws, and the Federal Trade Commission would have none of it.

Representatives of Wisconsin firms participating in the conference were: A. T. Logan, Drew Line company, and L. C. Gillard, James Manufacturing company, Fort Atkinson; L. H. Sell, Farmers' Barn Equipment company, Stevens Point; C. J. Gardner, Gardner Manufacturing company, Horicon; Herbert H. Grubb, Humane Stanchion Works, Baraboo; and R. H. Klumb, West Bend Equipment corporation, Klumb was elected secretary of the conference, which was presided over by Trade Commissioner Garland S. Ferguson.

SEVEN OTHERS
Seven other firms, in Iowa, Illinois, Ohio, and Minnesota participated in the conference, which represents the major portion of the barn equipment industry.

The conference agreed to abolish the following practices, and the Federal Trade Commission agreed to help the industry enforce these agreements by bringing "cease and desist" orders against any firm violating the agreements:

1. Grabbing each other's business by "wilful interference" with existing contracts between seller and purchaser.

2. Misrepresentation of quantity, quality, quantity, or size of any product of the industry.

3. Payment of secret rebates, refunds, credits, or unearned discounts, giving of premiums, special prices or privileges to certain purchasers, not excluding public institutions.

4. Discrimination in price between purchasers of the same class where the effect of such discrimination would tend to lessen competition substantially or to create a monopoly.

5. Defamation of a competitor by words or acts which call in question his business integrity, his ability to perform his contracts, his credit standing, or the quality of his goods.

6. Issuance of price schedules which do not truly reflect prices of goods.

Five other rules were adopted by the conference which were "accepted as expressions of the trade" by the Federal Trade Commission, but which cannot be enforced by court action. These five rules are designed to establish the following practices by mutual consent of the industry:

1. Prevention of the allowance of transportation or trucking charges in excess of the actual or published amount of such charges.

2. Prevention of attempts to entice away from a competitor his salesmen or other employees without due notice to the employer.

3. Definition of a wholesaler as a person or firm primarily engaged in selling to the retail distributor instead of primarily engaged in manufacturing or selling direct to users.

4. Handling disputes "in a fair and reasonable manner coupled with a spirit of moderation and good will," with arbitration where agreement cannot be reached.

5. Abolition of the acceptance by wholesale distributors and manufacturers of contracts for the sale of products of the industry to dealers or wholesalers without statement of specifications; that is, abolition of "blanket contracts."

BROTHERS QUESTIONED IN PLAYMATE'S DEATH

Gary, Ind. — (P) — Two brothers, one 13 the other 11, were questioned Wednesday, concerning the death of their 8-year-old chum, Edward Wojcik.

The brothers Bernard and Henry Pozonka, told of hiding Edward's body under a new bridge over the Calumet river Tuesday, but they said he had been shot accidentally.

The three were fishing and had a 22-calibre pistol with them. Bernard said he left the other two in their boat, which had been beached.

"When I got back, Henry was crying and Edward was lying on the bank," Bernard said. "Henry said Edward had shot himself."

A bullet had struck the youngster in the head. Police said there were no powder burns to indicate the shooting had been done at close range.

The boys said they lifted Edward's body into the boat and rowed it to the bridge, where it was hidden.

WORLD MEET TO BE OPENED BY WOMAN CRIPPLE

Kansas City — (P) — A Kansas City woman who has overcome handicaps almost as great as Helen Keller's is to open a world conference of workers in behalf of crippled children in Geneva this summer.

For Mabel Jewett, whose limbs and back were crippled by infantile paralysis 26 years ago, the trip to Switzerland will be a realization of one of her greatest dreams. She has been invited to deliver the invocation opening conference July 28.

Evangelistic work has claimed much of her attention since she was 20 years old. During 18 years since that time, when she became an orphan, Miss Jewett has lived on a pension of $36 a month. Her father was a civil war officer. Funds from the Kansas City Junior league have made possible her trip abroad.

Animals at Alicia Park zoo are destined to become wise since "Walt" joined the little colony.

"Walt," by the way, is the latest addition to the zoo. He is supposed to be one of the wisest owls that ever hooted in these parts, according to Alderman Walter Gmeiner, "Walt's" namesake.

Walter regrets that the owl wasn't placed in the zoo the day before July 4, so that he might have instructed the late Peter on the proper methods of consuming peanuts. Peter, 3-year-old monkey, and one of the oldest residents of the zoo, died last Friday from "consumption" of too many peanuts.

Now Is Right Time To Sow Seeds For Poppies

Both annual and perennial poppy seeds should be sown now, the former for a late summer succession and the latter for plants for next year. The perennial poppies range from the tiny and dainty Alpine poppies dear to the rock gardeners' hearts and not an easy task to raise to successful blooming size to the huge orientals as big as peonies.

Between them come the Icelanders, now in a variety of strains, and other species which are desirable for the garden but not common and offered in few seed lists.

The Icelanders are beautiful early spring flowers coming into bloom early in May. Originally they were confined to white, yellow and orange. Now there are fine strains of pinks and salmons in the new Coonara strain, the loveliest of all the Iceland poppies. The Sunbeam strain and others likewise contain many new colorings. Tangerine is, as its name indicates, a glowing red and orange similar in coloring to the fruit, and another newcomer, the species from Thibet, now offered by a number of seedsmen, gives a variety of intense oranges in the Iceland tribe. They are very hardy as to cold but fussy as to wet. They want well drained soil to survive the winter and do not like rich fare. If overfed they make long, straggling crooked stems.

They are best sown each year, to bloom the following year. A few of the plants sown now are likely to give scattering bloom next fall. They will start into bloom when there is still ice on the ground next spring.

The huge orientals are the most gorgeous and largest flowered perennials in the garden, aside from the peonies. Their range is now from rose through various salmons, white, to dark crimson, as well as the more familiar orange, scarlets and reds. They are easy to grow if let alone as they are the most difficult of all poppies to transplant. They should be transplanted as soon as they have made one true leaf and cared for assiduously in the way of keeping them watered. As soon as they start their long taproot down, they cannot be moved while in full growth with any degree of success. The mature plants grow and become dormant after blooming, when they may be moved.

trek across this desolate waste during the gold rush of 1849. William Cochrane, an old prospector, has claimed discovery of a gold vein.

The grizzled desert dweller is moving machinery to develop his property by the slow and laborious transportation means of the desert.

Since his find, more than 75 other persons have struck out during the Emigrant Springs.

Cochran claims his discovery involves a five-foot vein of free milling ore. Cochran says the general assays average $29 with streaks running up to $500 a ton.

MRS. ROGERS GETS DIVORCE DECREE IN DUTCH COURTS

The Hague — (P) — The Dutch courts have granted an absolute divorce to Mrs. Henry H. Rogers from her husband, H. H. Rogers, Standard Oil magnate. The two are parents of Millicent Rogers Romas, the former Countess Salin.

The divorce was obtained in the district tribunal at Utrecht June 26, on grounds of infidelity, and was revealed today with registry among foreign cases in the records of the central bureau of civil registration.

The divorce became effective July 2, great secrecy, however, surrounded the entire affair and the final bested depositing of the official summary in the court records here.

Dutch law forbids newspapers to publish any details of a divorce beyond the actual reason for it, so that nothing was known here of the actual evidence introduced by Mrs. Rogers.

The two were married in New York Nov. 7, 1900. They gave their permanent address as No. 2 Zeist, which is near Utrecht.

Diagonal Circular Tiers

BY ANNEBELLE WORTHINGTON

A modified Princess type with sleek flattering slender lines, is illustrated in Style No. 2868.

The bodice is beautifully draped to give fitted smooth neckline. It is quite long-waisted at right side which creates a charming diagonal movement to triple tiered skirt. The neckline denotes smart individuality in irregular V-outline at front, with a three-piece yoke that ties in bow at left-side front. It is sleeveless but can also be made with long sleeves, dart-fitted below the elbows. The tiers are cut circular and fall in graceful ripples.

It can be had in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust, and is decidedly wearable in orchid cotton voile, that launders so beautifully. It's very summery in yellow and white polka-dotted rajah silk with yoke tie of white crepe de chine. Red and white printed lawn and pin check green and white cotton voile are attractive selections to make that are exceptionally cool and smart.

BAINBRIDGE COLBY'S WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE

Reno, Nev. — (P) — Mrs. Nathalie Sedgwick Colby, wife of Bainbridge Colby, former secretary of state in the cabinet of Woodrow Wilson, plans to try for a divorce here. Her husband failed to obtain a decree in the Paris courts in March 1923.

Mrs. Colby and her daughter, Mrs. Robert Cameron Rogers, came to Reno a week ago and took a bungalow at the edge of the city's business district. Although Mrs. Colby could not be seen yesterday, her daughter readily admitted her mother was here for the legal period of three months, after which she expected the divorce action would follow. The attorney for Mrs. Colby declined to discuss the case.

At the time the Paris courts denied Mrs. Colby a decree, there was considerable publicity over the granting of quick divorces to Americans. Colby, before he entered the Wilson cabinet, was active in the Progressive party, and had previously been a Republican. After the retirement of Wilson, Colby was associated with the former president in law practice. The Colbys were married in 1895. There are two children, Mrs. Frederick Delafield, Jr., and Miss Natalie Sedgwick Colby.

Mr. and Mrs. William Zievor and daughter, Winifred of Racine are visiting the William Timmers and H. Van Rooy homes.

Miss Grace Richards of Houghton, Mich., formerly a student at Lawrence college, is visiting Mrs. Dan Hardt, S. Meade-st.

THE NEW Saint Sinner By Anne Austin © 1923 W. M. AUSTIN, INC.

LISTEN, Callie! Listen! Tony begged, shaking the girl by the shoulders in an effort to check that terrible fit of hysterics. "I'm not going to marry Dick Talbot!"

The sobs stopped suddenly. "Aw, get on and marry him," Callie Barrett said drearily. "It ain't going to get me nothing if you throw him over now."

"I don't want to, I've never wanted to," Tony insisted. "He made me believe I owed him a debt, because I let him make love to me, but now his debt to you comes first—and I'm going to make him pay it," she added fiercely.

"What do you mean?" Callie asked blankly. Callie Barrett shook her head, slowly, with utter hopelessness. "I'm going to bring him here and make him marry you," Tony elucidated. "Don't worry, honey I can do it all right! Just you be thinking what you'll be wearing for your wedding—"

"Reckon I don't want to marry him, either, Miss Tarver. I ain't forcing myself on no man. I've got my pride. When I first found out I was going to have a baby, I begged him to marry me, but when he—he called me a—awful name I wouldn't dirty my mouth with it, I—well, I guess I stopped loving him. That's the awful part of it now. I haven't even got no love left in my heart, but the baby's coming any way."

"Oh!" Tony gasped. Then she put her arms about the girl and kissed her. "I'm so sorry, Callie, but for the baby's sake you ought to marry him, even if I have to make him do it—"

Again the girl shook her head. "No, Miss Tarver. Reckon it wouldn't be much of a marriage, with him hating me and my love for him dead. I haven't told you everything awful he did to me. He told his father, and his father sent a lawyer to see me. The lawyer had a paper that he wanted me to sign, and it said in it that I swore my baby wasn't Dick's. He said if I'd sign it Dick's father would give me a thousand dollars, but I tore it up and threw it in his face."

"Of course you did!" Tony championed her hotly. "Oh, the beasts! I could kill them all!"

"I told the lawyer that I'd die before I'd sign a paper like that, because I never had been bad with any man but Dick, and if he didn't want to make it right for me and the baby I'd kill myself, but I wouldn't sign a lie," the dreary voice went on. "And so the lawyer accused me of trying to blackmail Mr. Talbot and Dick, and I said no, I didn't want nothing from them, after Dick had acted like that. . . . And now, all I want is to die. Last night I was going to take some stuff I got at the drug store to kill myself with, but Mr. Grant stopped me. Two of the tablets rolled under the

The Tynymites

By Hal Cochran

THE Tynies didn't even peep, but all stayed very sound asleep as they pushed the cloud that they were in. One of the Tots said, "They look sweet. I'd like to tickle Clowny's feet. I'm sure that it would startle him, and likely make him grin."

Another said, "Oh, don't do that. He might jump up and lose his hat. He promised we would stay nearby, but not disturb their snooz." A third Sky Tot then shouted, "Hey! A windstorm's coming right this way. We'd better move much faster, 'cause we have no time to lose."

"Perhaps, if we can travel fast the wind will whistle right on past, but if we're in its path I fear we'll all be blown away. Push, harder, faster! This is slow. Our task right now is real hard work. Don't take it just as play." The Sky Tots did the best they could, but fate, it seemed, was not so good. The windstorm now was closer and they all grew scared to death. Said one, "Oh, goodness gracious, I fear we will be blown from the sky. This seems just like a cyclone. I can hardly catch my breath."

Just then the wind zipped, very cold, and made the Sky Tots lose their hold upon the Tynies' floating cloud. It soon went out of sight. Wee Scouty then woke up and cried, "Oh, gee, this is a crazy ride. I cannot see the Sky Tots. My, I hope that they're all right." The others opened up their eyes and saw the windstorm in the skies. Their cloud was being tossed about, and they could hardly stand. "We are the victims of a storm. It's getting cold. I wish 'twere warm," said Coppy. "We'll be lucky if we find a place to land."

(Another scare comes in the next story.)

bed and he didn't see 'em, and I took 'em this morning, but they didn't kill me. They just made me sleep awful sound, so I didn't hear you when you come in." "Oh, Crystal! What can we do?" Tony cried despairingly. "She can't be left here, like this! Listen, Callie. Will you come and stay with me till we can decide what is best for you?" Again that dreary shake of the head. "Reckon it wouldn't be right to get you mixed up with this, Miss Tarver, though you're mighty—mighty kind, and I 'preciate it— The sobs were coming again, but she checked them resolutely. "Besides, I couldn't leave Grandma. She's old and sick." "Then listen—" Tony began eagerly. . . .

CHINESE PAIR FACE HEADSMAN'S SWORD OR IMPRISONMENT

Alleged Opium Smugglers Will Receive No Mercy from Own Government

BY LEO C. OWEN
Copyright, 1929, By Cons. Press
San Francisco—The headsmen's sword, in all probability for both; if not this, then life imprisonment with regular weekly floggings in a Chinese prison.

This, according to persons high in San Francisco's famous Chinatown, is the fate that awaits Ying Kao, youthful Chinese vice consul here, and his equally young and vivacious wife in case the U. S. Government does not prosecute them for alleged opium smuggling. Federal authorities here indicate that they will let the Chinese government deal with both.

Mrs. Ying Kao landed here last week from Shanghai, China. Acting on advice from secret service operatives in China, agents held her voluminous baggage—11 trunks and three pieces of hand baggage. Late Monday they searched the 11 trunks and found $800,000 worth of Macao opium.

Mrs. Ying Kao asserts complete innocence of any part in a smuggling plot. She says the opium-laden trunks were packed by "friends" in China who were sending presents to relatives here. Her husband, who did not accompany his wife to China, disclaims any part or knowledge of the opium shipment. Neither are under arrest—because of the dictates of diplomatic procedure and custom.

SECRECY OBSERVED
Regarding the whole case, both federal authorities and the Chinese consul general's office are pursuing a policy of close mouthed secretiveness. The state department in Washington already has taken a hand in the affair. Because of this, and in further accord with diplomatic dictates where official representatives of other governments are concerned, it is intimated by federal men that there will be no federal prosecution of either the young vice consul or Mrs. Ying Kao.

But they will be punished, says Chinatown—terribly punished. The Chinese diplomatic service is proud of itself, they contend, and defining more specifically the fate of both, they answer "the headsmen's sword." Mrs. Ying Kao will be beheaded, they say because by Chinese code a husband is responsible for his wife's acts and although he may be innocent of any knowledge of the opium smuggling plot, he must pay the same penalty, they contend.

That Chinatown may be right in its forecast of the punishment to be meted out to both is in a measure verified by W. G. Kung, Chinese consul general here.

"The punishment will be very severe. It cannot be less than imprisonment for life for both," he says. Ying Kao, formerly was a student at the University of Wisconsin. He has been in the Chinese diplomatic service for several years and vice consul here for approximately four years. His father, reputedly wealthy, has likewise been in Chinese consular service for many years.

WEALTHY WOMAN
Mrs. Ying Kao, mother of two small children, is the daughter of Liu Ming Fong, present Chinese minister to Cuba and a reputed millionaire.

But Chinatown here says that neither the wealth nor the influence of the fathers can save their children

25 RAIL COMPANIES HIT BY NEW RATE

Madison—(AP)—Twenty-five railroads operating in Wisconsin, and each of the fuel dealers selling and manufacturing concerns using coke are affected by the state railroad commission's order for new shipping rates on that product.

The decision came today after hearings that have been held since Feb. 28, 1927, when the Milwaukee Coke and Gas company filed complaint and followed decision of the interstate commerce commission on inter-state rates into Wisconsin.

The intra-state rate for the southern third of the state will range from 90 cents per 2,000 pounds for a shipment under ten miles to $2.20 for shipments under 180 miles. The rate on the northern two-thirds of the state will follow, approximately the same range from 90 cents up to 30 miles and to $3.68 for 400-mile shipments.

The railroads were found guilty by the commission of charging unjust from the rate which the Chinese government and the Chinese diplomatic service will insist on meting out to them.

It develops that Mrs. Ying Kao since her husband has been vice consul here has made four trips to China. Always before, however, her baggage went unsearched when she returned; a custom courtesy accorded her because of her husband's position in the diplomatic service.

In the present case, however, when U. S. secret service men in China flashed word by cable that her trunks were laden with opium, the state department in Washington ruled that Ying Kao, being only a vice consul, was not entitled to the usual diplomatic immunity in the matter of baggage.

Much conjecture still centers around the three pieces of baggage yet unsearched—principally because of the fight being waged to prevent them from being searched. Mrs. Ying Kao says they contain only her own personal effects; that she packed them herself and knows their contents, whereas the eleven opium laden trunks were all packed by her "friends." Tuesday a telegram went sent secretary of the treasury Mellon, by her attorneys, protesting against the three pieces being looked into by custom men.

ARMY SUPPLIES MAY BE PURCHASED SECRETLY

Washington—(AP)—Authority for secret purchases of material for military and naval uses is proposed in a draft of a bill submitted by Secretary Good to Acting Chairman James, of the house military committee.

The measure to be introduced by James would authorize the president to class as secret certain material, apparatus, or equipment which, in his discretion, is such that the interests of public service would be injured by publicly divulging information concerning them. It would "authorize the purchase and award of contracts for the development, manufacture or procurement thereof without public advertisements for bids or notice to the trade."

A provision stipulates, however, that the contracts shall not be awarded except where it is impracticable to develop and manufacture the material in government establishments. The decision of the president as to what material shall be classed as a secret would be final.

The draft of the bill, Secretary Good advised Mr. James has been approved by the navy and war departments. He added that the "necessity for legislation of this character has long been felt in both departments."

A growing appetite for rabbit forced California to import 250 tons of the meat last year, although 3,000 tons were butchered within the state.

Opium Smuggling Affair Becoming Chinese Puzzle

Washington—(AP)—A tangle of racial customs, differing national laws and international diplomatic usage today curtailed the immediate future of Ying Kao, suspended Chinese vice consul at San Francisco, and his wife, who is accused of having attempted to smuggle a large quantity of opium into the United States.

Ying Kao has been attached to the San Francisco consulate five years, having been appointed by the former Peking government. As a result of the finding of opium in the trunks brought into the United States by Mrs. Ying Kao, he has been formally suspended from all duties connected with the consulate, pending further investigation by Minister C. C. Wu, the representative in Washington of the new Nanking government.

The minister's action followed receipt at the location of numerous messages from Chinese in the United States and the dispatch by him of a preliminary report to Nanking. Among the Chinese demands for action against the former vice consul and his wife was one by the executive committee of the Kuo mintang in America—the party which supports the present Chinese government—for trial of Mrs. Ying Kao under Chinese law, which is more drastic in such cases than American law.

That is regarded in some quarters as placing her and her husband in the position of political refugees. Certainly, they cannot be tried in America under Chinese law, and not be deported in the absence of an extradition treaty. Furthermore, the labor department has ruled that foreign diplomatic and consular received by the United States are at liberty to remain after resigning their positions, although they may be excluded if they once leave the country.

If American courts should acquit Mrs. Ying Kao of the charges against her, according to the contention that she was not aware the opium was in her trunks—that it was placed there by others and that she was merely their dupe—she and possibly her husband would still be subject to trial in China on the same charges if they ever returned.

A complete investigation of the incident by Chinese officials at San Francisco, meanwhile, has been ordered by the minister. It is awaiting the results of that inquiry and any information which the customs authorities of the treasury may furnish through the state department before making a full report to the Nanking government.

PROPOSES TO CHANGE BY-LAWS OF BOARD

Supervisors Will Receive Recommendations at November Meeting

Neenah — Recommendations for changes in the by-laws and regulations governing the Winnebago board have been submitted to the board by J. E. Scheller, supervisor from the Second ward, Neenah. Action will be taken on them at the next board meeting on Nov. 12. One important change will be the substitution of "Robert's Rule of Order" as the parliamentary guide, instead of "Jefferson's Manual."

It is proposed to eliminate the word "poor farm" and substitute "county home." Revision of the committee lists to cut out groups that no longer function, and to add new groups is planned. Mention of the "workhouse" committee and "road and bridge committee" will be eliminated. New committees to be mentioned are the county fair and aviation committees.

A chairman pro tem of the county board would be elected when the chairman and vice-chairman are both absent. A county highway committee consisting of five members to represent cities, towns and villages and all other elective committees and elective officers would be elected annually at the November session of the board, if the recommendations are approved.

Severson's amendment would take from the Governor the power of appointing the board members, and would create a trust fund board composed of the Governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general, and superintendent of public instruction.

In arguing for his substitute, Severson charged that the original measure, which was introduced by Senator H. E. Boldt, Sheboygan Falls, is an effort to "gain more political plums for the Kohler administration."

Another vote on the question will probably be taken this week.

COMPETITION IS BRINGING MERGERS IN AUTO INDUSTRY

Latest Rumors Concern Peerless Company; No Confirmation However

BY J. C. ROYLE
(Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press)

New York — There are feet in the automobile field on which the shoe of tight competition is commencing to pinch. This fact is leading to renewed rumors of mergers in the industry.

The latest of these rumors concerning the Peerless company, states interests in Detroit and New York are reported to have secured considerable holdings in this firm with the object of merging it with some other concerns. No confirmation of this report has been obtained but the validity with which it has been accepted shows the trend toward mergers in general.

Added importance was given the possibility of changes in lineups and managements today by the reports that control of the Willys-Overland company had been acquired by C. O. Munger and associates of Toledo and Chicago. This does not necessarily indicate a merger but it will involve a somewhat different lineup. It is denied negotiations have actually been closed for the acquisition of the stock of John N. Willys but the report caused not the slightest surprise to men close to the industry. Some of these do not hesitate to declare their belief that Mr. Munger and his associates secured practical if not absolute control of the company as far back as May 20.

HOLD ANNOUNCEMENT
Then announcement of the deal for the Willys holdings, which are assumed to carry complete control, in conjunction with the present holdings of the Munger group, it is believed was withheld until Mr. Willys' plans for his entry into other activities took more definite shape. The pinch in the automobile business is not causing twinges among the larger producers, of which Willys-Overland is one, so far as can be learned. They have had a most wonderful year so far and are in such a position that even a drop in sales far more radical than any that is expected in the next six months would cut down their year's earnings to a point where they would fall below the level of 1928.

For example, the Hudson and Essex factories turned out 326,318 cars in the first half year, a gain of 24 per cent. The Oldsmobile shipments of General Motors gained 34.6 per cent to 67,389 while the Chevrolet division made over 800,000 cars. Ford is turning out 8,000 cars a day and pushing production hard. These firms could stand a 15 to 20 per cent drop in production and still be in a satisfactory position, but the same does not apply to some of the other units in the industry which are in vital need of larger and more varied production, reduction of material and executive and management costs and enlargement of selling outlets. It is figured that mergers might sup-

ELKS INSTALL THEIR NEW EXALTED RULER

Los Angeles—(AP)—Installation of Col. Walter P. Andrews of Atlanta, Ga., as grand exalted ruler, and other newly elected officers of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, marked the activities of the sixty-fifth convention today.

The grand parade of the delegates, bands, drum and bugle corps and drill teams also was on the program.

A spectacular electrical pageant in the Coliseum tonight will be staged by Motion Picture Producers of Southern California.

Yesterday at a session of the grand lodge announcement was made of the contribution of $675,000 to the national foundation fund started six months ago. It is planned to make this a $20,000,000 fund for charity work.

ply some if not all, of these necessities.

Some concerns are counting on new and unusual designs to carry them smartly over the hump of mid-year slackness.

REDUCE PRICES

Others are contemplating price reductions. Studebaker has just announced taking this step today. It was reported for a time that Peerless would make the new Buxton car with front wheel drive, but executives of the Peerless company announced the company has decided not to take up this work. It is now reported the Buxton car will be made in a St. Louis plant.

The rumors as to Peerless were accentuated by the resignation of Leon R. German, who has been president of the company since 1928. The rumors indicate a belief on the part of some that R. W. Judson, president of Continental Motors, may be among the Detroiters who have recently acquired blocks of Peerless stock. The name of W. C. Durant and those of his motor associates also have been mentioned with regard to the proposed merger.

E. H. Parkhurst, vice president and manager of the Columbia Axle company, which supplies Peerless with axles, is a member of the board makers of accessories naturally are anxious to have a direct and close connection with their principal customers and efforts of the automobile accessory men in this direction occasion no surprise in the trade.

Mr. Munger, is president of the Electric Auto Lite company. Many of the motor accessory men are in fully as advantageous position as the automobile manufacturers so far as this year's business is concerned. The firms which supply parts and accessories to the Ford company have naturally profited by the greatly increased output this year. But the margin of profit of some of the accessory concerns is none too wide and mergers in this line are also known to be under consideration.

The merging of some of the truck manufacturers some time ago seems to have been of assistance in stabilizing the truck situation, but the real impetus under which the truck makers have been operating is the profits which are flowing from the transportation of freight by motor.

For example, the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission reports that the freight truck companies in that state last year showed profits of 18 per cent as against 6 per cent for the passenger bus lines.

NEW DAIRY LAWS MUST BE OBSERVED

Dairy and Food Department Will Enforce Regulations

Madison—(AP)—Notice has been served on cheesemakers of the state that the dairy and food department will complain against them on every report of violation of the new cheese butter fat and moisture content law.

The legislature passed, and the governor recently signed, the law, under which courts, on complaints of the dairy and food department may order sale of cheese having too low butter fat content, or too much moisture. Money from such sale will come to the state treasury, the law provides.

C. J. Kremer, dairy and food commissioner, has sent cheesemakers a copy of the act, with this advice:

"I dislike to take any action which may injuriously affect any persons, and want to be of help to the cheese industry in as far as I can, but it is my duty to make complaint to the courts and have unlawful cheese seized when found."

"This is a new situation in Wisconsin, and I want to plead with all makers of cheese and all operators of cheese factories to use the utmost care not to manufacture cheese subject to seizure either on account of low fat or high moisture content. Seizures and prosecutions should not be necessary, but let us all work that Wisconsin's cheese will become known as the best in the land."

Under the new law the maker or assembler of such illegal cheese may be prosecuted under criminal laws in addition to losing his product.

BORDENS DEFEAT HAMILTON TEAM

Tail Enders in Softball League Show Pep in 8-7 Victory

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Bordens and Hamiltons clashed Wednesday evening in a softball game. The Bordens, tail enders in the city league, knocking the Krautlers off their high perch by an 8-7 score in eight innings. Getting a live run lead, the Bordens saw this advantage dwindle rapidly in the sixth when the Hamiltons were leading by two runs. Grauvunder had poked out a homer to bring his team in the lead. Bordens came back in the end of the sixth and tied the score. In the eighth Brown's catch of a line drive stopped a Kraut rally. In the ninth the first two Bordens men went out, Wolfrath to Schoepke. Beauchard then made a single after which Gosser beat out a roller. Wells, the Bordens pitcher, with a two and two count against him knocked out a double, winning his own game. Wells pitched a good game, as did Wolfrath for the Borden, only three bases on balls being issued. A large crowd witnessed the game.

The home of Bernice Yankle was the scene of much excitement Monday afternoon when a swarm of bees evidently mistook the chimney of the house for a hive, and settled there. Harry Ruppel, the Medina "bee man" was called to corral them. He proceeded to open the stove pipe hole into the chimney to smoke them out but when he removed the cover the bees flew into the room settling on the window draperies and various other places.

Mrs. Yankle removed the draperies from the windows and took them outside and after a very exciting time in which all the neighbors partook the bees were hived.

NAME OFFICERS AT ANNUAL MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARD

Fremont High School to Have Band Director Next Year

Fremont—Fifteen people attended the annual district school meeting held Monday evening at the school house. Reports of the clerk and treasurer, which had been audited by a committee before the meeting, were read and accepted. The reports showed a balance of $158.61 on hand. Receipts for the year totaled $12,655.75 and expenditures amounted to $12,407.11.

A resolution was passed authorizing the raising of $5,500 for the ensuing year. This amount, together with the state and county aid, and high school tuition from nearby rural districts, will finance all expenses for next year, provide for repairs to the school house, and pay for installation of a fan system in connection with the heating plant.

The total receipts next year also will take care of a $1,300 indebtedness, the balance on the school building. After next year the school tax will be considerably lower, when the district will be free of debt, and the local tax rate will be noticeably affected.

Resolutions were passed instructing the school board to employ a part-time competent band instrument instructor if the number of students interested in music in proportion to the total cost of instruction is reasonable, and the opinion of the annual meeting was expressed as favorable to having the school board apply to the local district assemblyman and state senator to get the local charter amended so as to provide for only one director, instead of the present three in addition to the clerk and treasurer.

The following school board members were re-elected: Clerk, B. F. Pitt, treasurer, E. P. Sherburne; directors, J. M. Yanke, E. A. Sader, and Mrs. H. E. Redemann, elected in place of a retiring director.

The teachers and their salaries for next year: Principal, Arthur E. Brown, $1,620, Misses Margaret Gee and Cora Iverson, $1,125, and Miss Edith Rilling, $1,035.

A meeting of the chamber of commerce was held Monday in the village hall. Final plans for the United Chautauqua entertainment was made and other business was transacted. The Chautauqua program will come on at Fremont on Friday and will continue for four days. Entertainment will be given in the afternoon and evening. The program will consist of concerts, comedy plays and lectures.

As a matter of fact, the farm board chairmanship is the chance of any- body's lifetime and must so appear to many ambitious, active, capable man who has all the money he will ever need. Because of the importance of the farm problem and its diffi- culties, proffer of the chairmanship is one of the highest compliments Presi- dent Hoover could bestow.

Mr. Legge, who has been hereto- fore merely a successful business man, now has the opportunity to be- come one of the most important fig- ures in American economic history. It's a much more satisfying task than those involving merely the opportunity for limited power, pleasant surroundings and official social position for which many other "new pa- triots" have been so eagerly sacrific- ing themselves.

TAKE MELLON

Everyone knows of the yen which develops among millionaires for the Senate and for diplomatic posts and cabinet posts. The Senate is full of men who have made large wads of money and are now out there sell- ing it where they see. So is the higher diplomatic service. And one doesn't recall any paupers in the cabinet, either. The prize there is Andrew W. Mellon, the third richest man in America, who has been sacrificing himself more than eight years and gives every indication that he will in- sist on continuing to sacrifice him- self until someone pries him out of the treasury with a crowbar. Few men ever got such a big kick out of sacrifice as Uncle Andy.

No one suggests that most rich men in high office are not imbued to a greater or lesser extent with their own conception of patriotic public service. But very few of them bother to bellyache about sacrifice; that's done for them without much assistance from themselves. They re- alize that everyone except glibbie newspapermen and glibbie readers know better.

Brothers and sisters of the sob so- ciety are now dilating upon the great sacrifice of Alexander H. Legge of the International Harvester Com- pany, who has accepted chairman- ship of the farm board. They have reached new summits of ecstatic sen-

First, Tutty, a year-old grade Holstein, owned by Roland Stommel, made 13,555 pounds of milk, 531.4 pounds of butterfat with an average test of 3.92 per cent and netted her owner $2,121. over feed.

Second, Rose, a grade Holstein, owned by Len Miesberger, produced 14,973 pounds of milk, with 500.1 pounds of butterfat for a average test of 3.34 per cent, earning $1,800.4 over feed.

Third, Fannie, grade Holstein, owned by Len Miesberger, 13,636 pounds milk, 493.6 pounds butterfat, 3.66 per cent.

Fourth, Whitty, a grade Holstein, owned by Mathew Thiel, 12,607 pounds milk, 494.2 pounds of butterfat with a test of 3.63 per cent.

Fifth, Spotty, a grade Holstein, owned by Roland Stommel, 11,363 pounds of milk, 459 pounds of butterfat with an average test of 4.04 per cent.

The three high herds are:

First, Joe Miesberger, herd of 14 grade Holsteins, averaged 11,637 pounds of milk, 359.6 pounds of butterfat with an average test of 3.41 per cent. The average total cost of feed per cow was $55.05 with a grain cost of $34.59. The net profit per cow, above feed, was $152.91.

Second, Mathew Thiel, herd of 13 grade Holsteins, averaged 11,225 pounds of milk, 394.2 pounds of butterfat and an average test of 3.51 per cent.

Third, Roland Stommel, herd of 31 grade Holsteins, made 11,114 pounds of milk with an average of 391.7 pounds of butterfat and an average test of 3.52 per cent.

HERD IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM PLANNED BY COUNTY AGENT

Gus Sell, county agent, is planning a program of herd improvement work for pure bred herds in Outagamie county.

One aim, as well as other coun- ties in the state are being enlisted in a statewide campaign in an effort to improve the output of herds throughout the state.

During the next two years there is bound to be a noted increase in the testing program throughout the state," Mr. Sell said. "This will be done in an effort to enable farmers to weed out the poor producers in their herds and to breed and raise only from their better producers. Sec- ond, there will be an effort to im- prove herds through the use of dams and sires which are not only pure bred but come from good producing herds."

In order to have the pure bred herd dealers ready to meet this in- creased demand for pure bred dams and sires with good records this herd improvement program is being in- augurated.

The first step in the program will be an effort to have all pure bred herds, now being tested in associa- tions in the county, enrolled as a herd. That is, the official testing will be made of the entire herd.

These records will be kept on file so that farmers desiring to improve the strain of their herds may see the records of the herd from which they are purchasing dams and sires.

In addition to enrolling all pure bred herds in the already existing as- sociation, Sell is planning to orga- nize another testing association which will include only pure bred herds.

This program of herd improvement work is to be carried out through a series of letters direct to the own- ers and through meetings.

The first meeting, which probably will be a joint affair with cattle men of Winnebago-co, is being arranged by Mr. Sell, with O. P. Cuff, Winne- bago-co. agent, for July 25 or 26. The place of the meeting is not yet known.

Three national breeders associa- tions, the Holstein, Henshire and Jersey, already have approved the herd improvement work and the other two, Guernsey and Brown Swiss, are discussing the matter.

As there is a Holstein association in the county, Mr. Sell plans to dis- cuss with the officers and directors of that group the proposed plan be- fore steps are taken to put it into effect.

FATTENS STEERS ON HIS SURPLUS PASTURE LANDS

Oconto Falls Farmer Re- alizes Profit from Experi- ment.

BY W. F. WINSEY
Oconto Falls—A new method of utilizing surplus pasture lands and making them profitable to the owner is being demonstrated on a large scale by A. J. Peterson, owner and manager of the Falls Elevator. As his demonstration is being conducted on the John Spies lands at the intersection of Highway 22 and County Trunk K, many motorists stop to make inquiries and investigations. Local farmers are more interested.

One hundred ninety steers in one herd is the interesting picture that stops the cars and leads to the in- quires and investigations. Mr. Pet- erson purchased the herd in the St. Paul stock yards a short time ago at the average individual weight of 600 pounds and proposes to raise that average weight to 1,000 pounds by Oct. 15.

Five hundred sixty acres of wild pasture with a thick white clover sward and a grain ration are rapidly doing the job for Mr. Peterson. The grain ration consists of a mix- ture of 500 pounds of oat meal, 30 pounds of hominy, 300 pounds of Schumaker ground feed, 100 pounds of oat hulls, 20 pounds of mineral meal and 10 pounds of salt. The herd is fed this ration at 5 o'clock in the afternoon in a large, long feeding rack near the highway. The best time to visit the herd is when the ration is being served as "each animal is at its place. The amount of the ration fed daily has been in- creased gradually for the herd from 500 pounds at first to 1,000 pounds at the present time. The growth of the steers and their increase in weight are a strong indication that their feed is well balanced.

Mr. Peterson is no novice in the art of raising and fattening steers for the market. Up to 17 years ago where farming at Kelly Brook, he bought and fattened steers each year.

If Mr. Peterson's demonstration proves to be practical and applicable to smaller acreages a great many owners of small farms will try fat- tening steers on their surplus pas- ture next summer. As no equip- ment except a fence, tank and a feeding trough is needed for fatten- ing steers in summer, the project as a side line appeals to local farm- ers.

Get EVERYTHING That's Coming To You

THERE'S GOOD MONEY in the down grain that too often is never harvested. You might as well get it — and you CAN get it — with the Case-Osborne Binder.

On this famous machine, you can set the platform to shave the ground — lower the reel to within 4 inches of the cutter bar — pick up all the lodged grain and pocket the extra dollars those extra bush- els bring.

As for easy handling, come in and see for yourself. Just one lever, spring-assisted, lowers the reel, raises it up to 34 inches to handle tall grain — and moves it forward or back.

The Case-Osborne Binder pulls easily because of roller bearing equipment on the main wheel, the grain wheel, countershaft and a pitman shaft. The binding mechanism and the knottor are sure- working and long lasting — to keep pace with the strong construction of the entire machine.

Let us give you the details of this binder that has been reaping extra profits for its owners over a long period of years. Interesting folder on request.

KID CHOCOLATE HAS EASY TIME WITH FERNANDEZ

Cuban Is Impressive in First Start as Feather-weight

NEW YORK—(AP)—Kid Chocolate has taken one more long step toward wherever he is doing. The ebony kerd has abandoned his march toward bantam-weight title honors and cast his lot with the featherweights, making an impressive big time debut Wednesday night with a victory over Ignacio Fernandez.

The Cuban, unbeaten in his 150 battles in the "big boys" category, is no longer a "newcomer" in the ring. He has been in the spotlight as a contender for the bantam title, but he has been knocked out by Al Singer. Chocolate got an early start by hammering the Filipino around the ring and drawing blood from his nose in the fourth. He then coasted on to victory. His superb boxing ability made Fernandez miss time and again and he was finally able to get over a deciding round right to the end.

The battle, the opening attraction of the outdoor season at Ebbets field drew about 20,000 fans.

Wednesday night's victory put Chocolate right up in the front rank of contenders for the title held by Andre Routis, but whether the Cuban will try to win it immediately is another question. Before the fight it was suggested that the winner would be matched with Routis and his manager promptly denied such a possibility. After the battle, the Cuban intimated that he was quite willing to try conclusions with the French title holder at any time.

SAINTS MOVE UP ANOTHER HALF GAME

Beat Milwaukee Brewers While Rain Halts Blues and Millers

BY WILLIAM A. WEEKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Chicago—(AP)—St. Paul Thursday was half a game closer to Kansas City and the same margin farther ahead of Minneapolis in the American association race.

While rain kept the Blues and Millers idle at Kansas City, the Saints again defeated Milwaukee, due to a Frank Merriwell performance by Frankie Chapman and great pitching by Buck Betts. Chapman gave the Saints a 1 to 0 victory by batting out a home run in the eighth inning, his third in three days. Betts held the Brewers to two singles.

Toledo and Louisville engaged in one of the longest games of the season with the Hens emerging victorious by 10 to 8 in 15 innings. Each club scored once in the eighth and ninth innings to keep the score deadlocked, but the Hens punched over two runs in the fifteenth to gain the decision. Eddie Beyer, went the whole route for Toledo, although he was thumped for 19 hits. Moss and Wilkinson, for the Colonels, were hammered for 22 safeties.

An uproarious ninth inning rally fell shy by a run and Indianapolis dropped the third game of the series to Columbus. The Indians manufactured four runs in the last inning, but were forced to bow by 7 to 6. Pete Jablonowski pitched the whole game for the Senators although bunched for 12 hits. Slim Love and Spence worked for the Indians and were found for 14 hits.

Sports Question Box

Question—Two were out in the last of the ninth inning. Three batters were then given bases on balls. The next batter hit the ball over center field fence for a home run but he collapsed in rounding first base and was down and out. What scored?

Answer—Three runs. The batter could not complete the circuit of the bases because it was physically impossible for him to do so.

Question—Should a man sprint after he is thirty-five?

Answer—No man should. It is dangerous for his heart.

Question—Is Young Stribling a licensed airplane pilot or is it just another case of bunk about a prominent fighter?

Answer—Stribling really flies his own plane and is licensed. His brother Babe is now learning to fly.

VETERAN ELIMINATED IN WOMEN'S WESTERN

Chicago—(AP)—Mrs. Lee Milda of Butterfield Country Club and Mrs. Melvin Jones of Olympia Fields, both nationally known in women's golf, will not meet for the Chicago championship of the Western Women's Golf association. Mrs. Jones reached the semifinal round by defeating Mrs. C. W. Blackwell of Calumet Country Club.

AGED GOLFERS MEET FOR ENGLISH CROWN

Summingdale, Eng.—(AP)—T. F. Matthews of Canada won the medal round in the senior golfers competition which was confined to American and Canadian golfers. His net score was 70. Georges Lyon, another Canadian, who still is at it at the age of 71 after a record that includes eight victories in Canadian amateur championship, turned in a net score of 82 to tie for second place with Dr. A. Gregg of the United States.

Players Not In Favor Of Baseball's "Rabbit" Ball

BY ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK—(AP)—The gathering evidence is that, in spite of all official protestations to the contrary, the major league ball or at least the National league sphere is livelier than ever before. Also, the indication is that something will be done about it.

If not, "somebody will get killed," in the opinion of Donnie Bush, the Pirate manager. Or as other critics believe, the riot of slugging will continue to make many games a farce.

It is not secret, as a matter of fact, that some of the big outbursts of hitting in the older circuit recently have given the club owners as well as the fans a headache. Four games one day last week produced a total of 195 hits, an average of 27 per game. In another contest, the St. Louis Cardinals ran up 23 hits at 25 runs, including two ten-run frames.

At St. Louis, a screen, erected in right field, has cut off a percentage of pop-fly home runs but Baker bowl and the Polo grounds continue to be the happy hunting grounds for sluggers of the National league.

Having experienced no falling off in attendance or gate receipts, it can be attributed directly to the wild hitting, the magnates probably will go slow in making any changes that will make the ball less lively. Nevertheless the rabbit ball is on trial.

Baseball club owners might follow the decision of the golf authorities and make the ball larger and lighter. Golf "pros" expect the new sphere, which will be official after Jan. 1, 1931, to stop some of the tendency of players to "swing from the heels" in efforts to get distance at the expense of accuracy. Most any feeling ground testifies to the development in recent years of the habit of trying to "kill" golf's rabbit-ball.

The passing of Devereux Milburn Malcolm Stevenson from international polo, together with current events of the polo season, makes it certain that Tommy Hitchcock, youthful veteran of American forces, will assume much of the burden of defense play when the British send over another challenging team in 1930.

Instead of the No. 2 post Hitchcock made famous, Tommy now is concentrating on playing No. 1 where he can combine defensive work with occasional sorties into enemy territory.

With Eric Pedley of California now in the east, the rest of the international talent is being given series of tests with an eye to the 1930 "big four" lineup. Pedley has played No. 2 most of the time but performed nicely at No. 3 last Sunday in the first eastern game. Young Earl Hoppling, whose father is bringing a British team over here this season, and Winston Guest, are other top-ranking candidates for any American team. So is Averell Harriman who played a good No. 1 on the 1925 array that turned back the Argentinians.

A lineup composed of Guest, No. 1 Hoppling No. 2, Hitchcock No. 3 and Pedley at back might fill all requirements.

Madison—One hundred and ten coaches and athletic directors from all sections of the country have enrolled in the annual six weeks summer session in physical education at the University of Wisconsin. Twenty states are represented in the enrollment. The coach has attracted students from the east, west and south. Several Texas coaches have come north to combine their work with a vacation in the lake region of the middle west. There are men in attendance from Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New Mexico and the District of Columbia.

All of the states in the middle west have made their contributions. The total class enrollment to date has reached the 300 mark, with a few stragglers registering from day to day. This record is particularly outstanding in that four courses offered last year are not being given at the present time.

DOCTORS REFUSE TO APPROVE PLAN FOR PAY CLINIC

National Organization Says High Cost of Sickness Caused by Many Factors

BY RICHARD M. RUMMEL
Copyright, 1929, By Cons. Press
Portland, Ore.—(AP)—Mr. Average Man apparently must go on paying the high price for being sick that he always has. Any help which he is to get on his medical bills, for the time being at least, will have to come through his boss in the shape of a salary increase or through mortgaging the old home.

Physicians attending the convention of the American Medical Association here offer him little comfort. Dr. Malcolm L. Harris, of Chicago, saw his suggestion for pay clinics, as an aid to the great middle class, go down in defeat only a few hours before he took office as the association's new president.

Dr. Harris had recommended that clinics be established, not to give the person of moderate means free medical service but to charge him a price somewhere within reach of his pocket book. Summarily the suggestion was dealt with.

The committee on officers' addresses declared it wished to reiterate "what has been said concerning the agitation on the subject of the high cost of medical care but it especially desires to call attention to a fact often overlooked: that the increasing cost of sickness cannot justly be charged to the medical profession inasmuch as in a general way compensation for medical and surgical service has not increased in proportion to the increased cost of business occasioned by other contributing factors, nor has the compensation of physicians and surgeons increased to anything like the increase that has occurred in the cost of every other class of service.

GETS CONSIDERATION

The committee, of course, agreed the matter should receive "the serious consideration of the medical profession" and reported that "competent and adequate service should be available to all, but the plan of distribution will require a continuation of constructive thought, especially in view of the fact that a plan that may prove adequate and satisfactory for one community may not do so for another." With that the committee members signed their names and let the subject drop.

This and other matters which originally had been slated as "big things" before the convention have almost been lost in the shuffle since, uninvited and without a delegate's badge, the debate provoking person of General prohibition walked in on the deliberations. This uninvited guest William S. Thayer of Baltimore, retiring president of the association, had spoken some sharp words about governmental over-regulation. Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, bobbed up to call Dr. Thayer a "wet." Dr. Thayer called Dr. Wilson's entire statement "so far as expelling."

STATE MENTORS MAY NOT WORK IN CHURCH SCHOOLS

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin cannot furnish teachers for the parochial schools of the state, the attorney general ruled in an official opinion, published today.

In Green Bay, four parent-teacher association groups petitioned for parochial education instructors in the parochial schools.

Mr. Callahan was asked if it were possible to provide these, and he said the attorney general if it would be legal. The state law agent said the constitution says in part: "No money shall be drawn from the treasury for the support of any religious society or institution or theological seminary." "Teaching" under the constitution, under the state treasury, the attorney general admitted, is putting public school instructors in the Catholic schools would involve the expenditure of state funds, because the local schools all receive state aid.

It affects me, radically and completely, and things have quieted down. The General Prohibition is banning a man at the convention as a "wet." Dr. Thayer called Dr. Wilson's entire statement "so far as expelling."

SHORTAGE OF CARS FOR HAULING WHEAT FACED BY STATES

Rapid Harvest and Fewer Purchases of Freight Cars
Led to Situation

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright 1929, By Cons. Press.

Certain sections of the grain growing states are facing an acute freight car shortage for the first time in years.

This is due to a combination of circumstances, among which the most prominent are the rapid ripening of winter wheat and the modern method of mechanical harvesting which is bringing the new crop to the railroads in enormous volume at a time when there is a large surplus of the old crop—also to the fact that purchases of new freight car equipment in recent years have dropped much below normal.

In 1923 the new freight cars installed on the class 1 American roads totaled 232,060. In 1924 it was 156,572, in 1925 it dropped to 139,083, in 1926 to 93,369, in 1927 to 72,410 and in 1928 to 59,578.

RETIRED MORE
Last year the number of freight cars retired exceeded the new cars placed in service. In the past three years there were fewer freight cars purchased than in the one year 1923. The railroads have been able to meet their requirements on this smaller annual supplement of new cars by increasing their train loads and their average car loads. Apparently they had reached the limit of efficiency in this direction and had begun to face a shortage for in six months to June 30 this year they owned 93,123 freight cars, or more than the number installed during the entire 12 months of 1928. Their limited purchases have seriously affected the car building companies and placed the entire equipment industry in the list of those that have not taken part in the general industrial boom through which the United States has been passing in the last three or four years.

PRESENT RATES LOW
There is nothing that so stirs up local politicians as failure of the railroads to provide freight cars for their constituency in times when grain is being offered in volume by the growers of it and they are unable to realize current prices for their products. Already there have been demands for an investigation by the interstate commerce commission of the car shortage in winter wheat states in the face of the fact that practically all of the roads in the southwest voluntarily reduced their rates on grain shipments to the gulf and were followed by the eastern carriers in a similar effort to move out the old crop before the new one came into sight. There is a demand for further concessions to shippers.

In recent years the railroads have worked closely together in distributing their cars to those sections of the country where the immediate requirements were greatest. Through a form of cooperation which has come into use since the war they have been able to avoid the old-time shortages that developed in nearly every season of heavy grain movements, until recently nearly all of the large lines have had a surplus not only of freight cars but of engines in spite of the fact that they were moving a heavier volume of traffic than ever before in their history. By prompt deliveries of freight they have been credited with releasing many hundreds of millions of dollars for general business purposes which formerly was tied up while freight was in transit.

Panic Is One Of Dangers Which Causes Drownings

Madison—People who desire to go bathing should become thoroughly acquainted with the water in order to overcome fear before venturing beyond their depths. When a person sets plainly in deep water, he generally does everything he can do to drown himself. One of the first things for a bather to do is to win confidence and learn how to float. The educational committee of the Wisconsin State Medical Society in a statement today invited the cooperation of campers and bathers in reducing the toll of drowning in Wisconsin this year. The universally given cause of drowning whereas ignorance about swimming and life-saving and the usual causes.

"It is interesting to know that one hand out of the water weighs more than a whole body in the water, so we should keep our hands in the water," declares the bulletin. "A man in distress in the water can take a tip from a land animal which, when thrown into the water, sets up a running motion and makes for the shore; all the human being needs to do is to get his body in a horizontal plane and dog paddle to safety." The Society adopts the instruction approved by the Red Cross for the resuscitation of people.

"Lay the patient on his stomach. Extend one arm directly over his head. Bend the other arm at the elbow, and rest the patient's cheek on his hand, to keep the nose and mouth off the ground and free for breathing. "Kneel facing forward, straddling the patient's legs above the knees. Place the palms of the hands on each side of his back, just above the belt line and about 4 inches apart, thumbs and fingers together, the little fingers just out of sight. "With arms straight, lean gradual-

CAPELET IS CHOSEN FOR EVENING WEAR

New York — And now the capelet for evening. This is not a wrap as its name might imply. It is a part of the formal evening dress. It starts with the extremely low back decollete and follows it around. It cannot be a cape for from the place it starts, its extent must necessarily be limited. It falls over back panels which are pleated and the pleats stitched for several inches to form a short train. On the other side of this picture is the short front skirt. Smooth as silk has become obsolete for the newest silks are anything but smooth. In fact, some of them are almost as rough as the lighter tweeds. The new rough silks have a background usually of a rather somber hue with a design worked in the weaving in a contrasting shade. Brown and beige is a good combination. So is green and certain shades of yellow. Brown and red are coming more and more into favor since the brown forms such an excellent background for the more brilliant shade.

DOG QUARANTINE TO BE ENFORCED MORE STRICTLY

Sheriff Orders Arrest of Owners Whose Pets Are Running Loose

Plans for an immediate and more drastic enforcement of the dog quarantine in effect in Outagamie-co are being made by Sheriff Fred W. Glese.

The sheriff announced Thursday that arrests will be made within the next 24 hours of all dog owners whose pets are found running loose. This move follows receipts of a letter Wednesday morning from Dr. C. A. Deadman, chairman of the state board of health, who said that on a recent trip through the county he had seen many dogs running loose despite the quarantine.

Dr. Deadman advised Sheriff Glese that it was his duty to see that the law is enforced. All loose dogs may be killed by any individual without penalty and the owners may be taken into court, the doctor pointed out. He advised the sheriff to take steps at once to see that the quarantine regulations are strictly enforced.

The quarantine was placed on the county in April following discovery of rabies among dogs, and about six weeks later it was renewed for 90 days more when another outbreak occurred in the town of Seymour.

District Attorney Stanley A. Staidl also received a letter from Dr. Deadman asking him to lend his assistance in enforcing the quarantine, and the district attorney Wednesday advised Sheriff Glese to take drastic steps at once to enforce the law.

BANKERS WARN OF BAD CHECK PASSERS

State Association Bulletin
Asks Garages, Filling Stations to Beware

Merchants, and especially proprietors of garages and filling stations, are warned by the Wisconsin Bankers' association to be on the lookout for bogus travelers checks purporting to be issued by the Grain Exchange Bank of New York. A man going under the name Lon S. Mix, 60 years old and with gray hair, is passing worthless checks, the association said.

Other bad checks being passed in the state are on the State Bank of Oconto Falls, the party using the name L. O. Evans and Beatty; the Waukesha Lime and Stone company, made payable to a James Slattery and signed by H. M. Halvorsen, secretary.

Warning also has been issued to look for a man about 50 years old, five feet 11 inches tall, gray hair and slightly stooped, who visits summer resorts, spending his time fishing and making acquaintances. He is passing worthless checks. Several other checks cashed by a man giving his name as Charles A. Byrne have been passed at Sheboygan. He is about 28 to 30 years old, five feet 11 inches tall and has a dark complexion.

Another bogus check operator is issuing checks purported to be from the Standard Oil company. He is S. R. Williams, a discharged employee of the National Adjusting association, the report states. He is about 45 years old and walks with a decided limp. Still another operator is a W. Marko or Frank Miller, 19 years old, light hair and dark com-

RAILROADS SERVING FARMS ARE AMONG MARKET LEADERS

Influenced by Trend Toward Standard Investments Rather Than Grains

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1929, By Cons. Press

New York—Among the 85 or 90 stocks that have reached new high record prices during the past week are those of half a dozen of the railroads serving the great grain growing sections of the country. They include Atchafalaya common, Chicago and Great Northwestern common, Missouri Kansas Texas common, Missouri Pacific common, Union Pacific common, with Great Northern and Northern Pacific both close to their previous "highs."

There railroad stocks have been influenced more by the latest trend of market purchases toward standard investment issues than by the developments in the winter wheat and spring wheat states for the recovery of 30 cents a bushel in wheat from the low figure reached last May has been occasioned primarily by the accumulating evidence that all of these roads will have less grain to carry when the 1929 crops are harvested than they did a year ago.

OTHERS DO WELL

In contrast with the action of the granger rails is that of the shares of companies producing agricultural implements and automobiles as well as those of the mail order houses whose earnings fluctuate with the conditions in the farming area. None of these stocks has been represented in the list of several score of industrial now selling at prices higher than those reached last year or on the March or May advances.

This is the first time in some years that the stocks of the wheat carrying systems have not been affected by crop conditions in their territory. One explanation is that as they did not decline to any extent in sympathy with the break of wheat they were in a strong position to resist the effect of daily reports showing extensive damage to wheat crop now being harvested in the southwest as well as to the crops maturing in several weeks in the northwest.

Another is that even though both wheat crops are short compared with last year, the carryover from the 1928 harvest, plus the present satisfactory price, will give the granger roads a satisfactory grain tonnage and the farmer a purchasing power ample to cover most of his requirements in the way of merchandise.

MORE SERIOUS

The situation in Canada is relatively more serious than in the United States owing to the severe drought in the sluggishness of Canadian Pacific railroad stock which is about 25 points below its high of the year while Union Pacific and Atchafalaya, like Canadian Pacific, pay dividends of 10 per cent per annum. have recently been quoted at the highest figures in their history.

Evidence of the effect of the dry weather on spring wheat and the unfavorable harvesting conditions in the winter wheat states will be presented in the forthcoming government crop report, this is expected to show a very substantial reduction in the percentage of conditions compared with that of June 1 as well as with the ratio indicated at this time last year. All of these facts will be before the new federal farm board when it begins its operations in a few days. Washington opinion is that the growers of wheat in this critical year will have for the first time the benefit of an intelligent marketing policy and will be able to balance such losses as may occur from a short crop by a price level intimately associated with all of the known facts from all of the grain growing countries of the world.

Detroit Murder Victims

Funeral services for Dr. Benny Evangelista, leader of a Detroit religious cult, his wife, and four children who were mysteriously murdered by an ax slayer in what Detroit authorities term "hex" killings similar to those at York, Pa., attracted hundreds of curious spectators. Pictured here are the six coffins.

Made Railroad Pay By Disregarding Experts

Detroit—(AP)—When Henry Ford sold the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad he disposed of a property he had taken virtually from the junk heap and converted into a paying proposition.

For the 30 years before Ford acquired it in 1920, the road had limped along from one receivership to another. The success that attended Ford's entry into the railroad field paralleled, in a smaller way, the industrial epic he wrote in the creation of his automobile business.

In the case of the automobile interests he started with $28,000 in 1903. Some twenty odd years later he was reported to have refused $1,000,000,000 for his property.

With the railroad property Ford started in 1920 with $5,000,000. Six years later the interstate commerce commission placed a tentative valuation of $11,826,300 on the property and Ford himself protested that for rate-making purposes a "fair return" was $23,061,208.

Ford performed the seeming miracle of making the dying railroad pay him handsome profits by a procedure that was contrary to all economic logic. The profits came not because Ford instituted economies, but because he increased expenditures for maintenance of way and for equipment and also, he believed, because he paid railroad employees the same scale of wages he had instituted in his factories.

The road, under Ford ownership, was a thorn in the side of the railroads of the country generally; first because of the $4 a day minimum wage and latterly, on account of the electrification of a large part of the right of way, which Ford instituted.

Much of the financial success of D. T. & I. under Ford ownership was due to the fact that it got business in exchange from other roads to which Ford interests awarded contracts for hauling their freight after it once left the D. T. & I.

STATE AVIATION CODE IS APPROVED

Gives Municipalities Power to Enforce Its Provisions and Buy Ports

Madison—(AP)—A state aviation code, embodying the aircraft regulations of the federal department of commerce, has been passed by the legislature, final approval of the measure being voted by the senate Tuesday.

Introduced by Assemblyman Slater, the bill gives municipalities power to enforce its provisions, and to acquire and maintain airports. It prohibits stunt flying over crowded areas.

This completes the state's air and ground traffic regulations, the highway traffic code having passed both houses previously.

An increase of $54,000 for the next two years over the previous biennium contained in the appropriation bill for Stout Institute, Menominee, which the senate passed and sent to the assembly Tuesday.

Senator Robert Caldwell's bill, which would permit Wisconsin citizens to pay their taxes twice a year, instead of annually, was rejected by the upper house.

The "Bolt bedroom bill," which has pursued a hectic career since early in the session, was withdrawn Tuesday and returned to its author, Senator H. E. Baldt. The measure would have allowed legislators to spend $250 a session for office space. With increased salaries for lawmakers impending, the bill was laid on the table several months ago, after having once been approved.

In the senate, the conservative majority defeated an effort of the Progressives to compel appointment of two senators to succeed Blanchard and Shearer on the legislature's campaign investigating committee.

Progressive, calling on the committees to appoint successors to Blanchard and Shearer was rejected 14 to 11. The senate has previously voted not to choose two new members on the inquiry body until the assembly members agree that a senator shall be chairman. Blanchard and Shearer, both Conservatives, resigned from the committee because the assemblymen were unwilling to have Blanchard as chairman, claiming he has been too actively engaged in partisan politics.

VOTE RESERVATIONS IN ACCORD ON DEBTS

Paris—(AP)—The foreign affairs committee by a vote of 14 against 4 with five abstentions, today decided to adopt a report on the Mellon-Berenson accord providing for the insertion of reservations in the text. This was diametrically opposed to the government's policy. The debt settlements will probably be ratified by the French parliament soon enough to make unnecessary for the United States to present its war stock bill of $407,000,000 for payment in Aug. 1. In the belief of official circles.

In case anything should prevent ratification and the bill is presented, it is stated that naturally it will be paid, although such payment will not involve payment of a same amount to Great Britain. The statement of Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer in Great Britain, that he is watching the course of events in France and is ready to demand that the French treasury hand over to the exchequer a sum equivalent to the American war stock payment will not change the situation, it was said. The Caillaux-Churchill agreement does provide that France must pay Great Britain on war debts as much as she does to the United States on the same account, but it is held that the war stock deal is not a war debt and does not come within the provision of the debt settlement to which the chancellor referred. Premier Poincare is understood already to have made known to London that this is the standpoint of France.

CHAPTER 32
WHAT ABOUT "JERRY?"

JOE AND Peterson ruled Torridity. Mrs. Lundy went on, "much as political bosses rule our cities. Joe hated Peterson because of his success and his good looks. Joe wanted to run Peterson and I suppose that shooting came out of his hatred. The town was too small for both of them, and Joe would be a dangerous enemy. . . . Is there anything else, Mr. Peebles?"

Her question disconcerted me. It implied that she had little more to tell. I was bitterly disappointed, for actually she had told me nothing that illuminated the problem of Andrew's death.

"I was only there a week," she went on, reading my thoughts, "and thankful to get away. I always recall that week with loathing. After my return to Los Angeles I heard nothing from my husband."

"But when he was brought back you surely heard what had happened?" I exploded. "About the shooting, I mean. It's dreadfully important, Mrs. Lundy."

She shook her head sorrowfully. "Joe came to me on a stretcher. I have had him ever since. All I know is that he was shot — by Alex Peterson."

"Who brought him to you?"

"Torridity was abandoned about that time and Joe was taken to Paskella by his men. One of the men telegraphed me from Paskella that Joe was there—that he had been shot by Peterson, and that a doctor who had been working as a miner had attended him. I had Joe brought to my home and I have since heard nothing from any one who lived in Torridity at that time. And I don't want to!"

I meditated a moment. "You mentioned Alex Peterson's brother, Jerry?" I said hopefully. "Can you tell me anything about him?"

"Very little. I only saw him once. He had his brother's lean face and arrogant eyes, but I heard that he was wild and undisciplined. I shouldn't be surprised if the boy came to a bad end."

I could not answer for I was thinking of what Deacon and I had stumbled over in the Two Brothers mine.

"Didn't the size of that check Ogden gave you surprise you?"

"Yes, it did," she said frankly. "I had been soliciting subscriptions along the avenue and I met Mr. Ogden at the gate. He didn't seem interested until I happened to mention my name. Then he looked at me sharply and asked me if my husband's name had been 'Joe.' I said it was—that he was still alive. He looked at me hard, then he inquired into the library. His first question was the one you asked me. Was I the wife of Joe Lundy who kept a resort in Torridity 30 years ago? The question angered me, but he promised me $100 for the cause if I would answer it. So I told him what he wanted to know."

"How did he take it?"

"He seemed dumbfounded. And when I told him that my husband had not died in Torridity and that he was still alive, his face crimsoned and he began to pace up and down the room, muttering to himself. Then he sat down and wrote me that check for $100. You may imagine my surprise. He asked me for my address and showed me out."

"Where is your husband now?" I went on.

"At our home in Los Angeles!"

"Is he able to get about?"

"Yes."

"Mrs. Lundy, have you ever heard of a poker game played for a man's life?"

She frowned. "Yes, I have. My husband has talked about such a game in delirium several times."

"Has it ever occurred to you that the shooting of your husband and that poker game he talked of in delirium were connected?"

"Yes," she admitted. "It has occurred to me. But I don't know. And I don't care—now."

"Mrs. Lundy, you did not recognize Andrew Ogden?"

"Recognize him! I never saw him before." Her face became thoughtful. "No, I am not sure, now you speak of it. There was something familiar about him. His face, his voice, his manner—I don't know which."

"You haven't guessed why he gave you that check?"

Her nostrils quivered a little, but her face was calm.

"He gave it to you," I said slowly, gripping tensely the edge of my desk, "because—30 years ago—he was Alex Peterson."

She stared at me, becoming ashen of face.

"So that was it!" she cried. "A thousand dollars to pay for 30 years of misery! The best of my life given to looking after a broken hulk while Alex Peterson grew rich. Well, I am glad he is dead! I wish my hand had driven that dagger into his neck!"

But as I stared at the woman, shocked by her venomous words which, in the intensity of their bitterness, I had never heard equaled on human lips, her face was slowly transformed.

"No," she said, in a rapid voice, lifting her spiritualized face. "I didn't mean that. I should thank him, for through him I came to the Truth."

And as I marveled at the transforming power of these mystic beliefs, she dropped her eyes to mine.

"You self-complacent people with your traditional creeds think our faith absurd. You call us neurotics. You say that we are afraid of reality. That we are trying to escape from life. We are. And can you blame us, when reality has made us unbearable? My faith has anchored me to sanity." She stood up. "Is there anything else?"

"Only this," I muttered, subdued of spirit. "Go down to police headquarters and tell them what you have told me. If you don't, the first policeman you meet will take you up."

I let her out through the front door and gave her the lines Mrs. More had left on the porch. When she had gone I stood in the sunlight thinking over what she had told me. Andrew, in his Alex Peterson days, had shot the resort-keeper, Joe Lundy. Was this why Dillon had blackmailed him? If it were—and surely it was—no wonder Andrew had given the woman a check for $1,000! The irony of being blackmailed 25 years for a crime one hadn't committed staggered me. Poor Andrew! Had he become blind with fury and regretting to his former reckless character, attacked Dillon and been killed by the man? Perhaps. But why had he shot Lundy? And what about the man, "Jerry?"

On the threshold of my den I stopped with a shout of joy. Jerry—dressed in khaki—and Lucy were standing at the French window, hand in hand! And Deacon was behind them.

(Copyright, 1929, Wm. Morrow Co.) Jerry and Lucy are back! Jerry makes a startling revelation in tomorrow's chapter.

GIVE 'EM A CHANCE

London—Flappers are up in arms here because widows are marrying for a second time. Widows shouldn't be allowed to marry until there are."

PRESS WIRELESS FIRM TO GATHER, SEND NEWS BY AIR

Newspapers to Form Association for Use of Radio in Business

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1929, By Cons. Press

Washington — Approval of a plan by a group of newspapers to create a corporation owned and operated by the press of the nation for the gathering and distribution of news on an international scale has been given by the federal radio commission, but discord among the press faction still exists with the possibility of court litigation.

A half dozen of the some 15 newspapers and press associations which originally conceived the idea of creating an international radiotelegraph system for wireless transmission of news have created a corporation to be known as Press Wireless, Inc. The others have as yet not determined their courses, but are privileged to enter the new corporation on an equal basis within 30 days. Indications are, however, that the Hearst newspapers and press associations which have figured in the negotiations from the very beginning more than a year ago, will appeal to the court of appeals here to have the entire situation reviewed.

The new corporation, despite the lack of unanimity among the original newspaper applicants, has received the endorsement of the commission, and to it already have been assigned the 20 transoceanic channels which are to be employed in the transmission of news from abroad. The 20 continental channels, reserved for the nation's press for use in distributing and gathering of news within the United States later will be applied for by the corporation.

GO TO COURT

They are likely, however to be tied up in litigation for some time, since they already are involved in the appeals of the Radio Corporation of America and other continental short wave applicants who were denied channels by the commission recently. After repeated failures to come to agreement on the utilization of the channels and the manner in which they would be allocated, the commission on June 20 ordered that a single utility corporation to serve the entire press, be organized. But several of the news organizations contended that the channels should be distributed among the newspapers and press associations which would establish individual corporations, because of the element of competition among newspapers that naturally would be sacrificed if the single corporation ruling should be invoked. Other disconcerting factors entered the picture, and the commission finally made its ultimatum. It is against this order that the Hearst and perhaps other of the applicants likely will appeal.

The newspapers favoring the single corporation provision, as a last resort, formed the new corporation under the laws of Delaware, with a capitalization of $1,000,000, to be raised by subscriptions from newspapers and press associations, which must be made within the next 30 days.

The new corporation was formed by the Chicago Daily News, Chicago Tribune, Christian Science Monitor, the chain of newspapers controlled by Frank E. Gannett, of Brooklyn, the Los Angeles Times, and the San Francisco Chronicle. Other newspapers, it is understood, already have asked that blocks of stock be reserved for them.

HEADS GROUP

The corporation then elected Joseph Pierson, cable editor of the Chicago Tribune, and the guiding spirit of the radio-press movement, as president. R. R. Harrison, of the Christian Science Monitor, was elected vice-president; William S. Hedgcock, radio editor, Chicago Daily News, secretary, and John E. Gallagher, Los Angeles Times, treasurer. These officers also were appointed as executive committee of the corporation.

A tentative plan for the construction of stations for use of the transoceanic channels awarded the corporation calls for the location of three stations in New York, two in Washington, two in Chicago, one in Boston, one in Los Angeles and one in San Francisco. It is planned to apply for construction permits for these stations in August, at which time applications also will be filed for the 20 continental channels reserved for the press.

LIFE'S ODDITIES

By George Clark

MELLON WON'T QUIT POST AS SECRETARY

should be represented on the directorate. Mr. Mellon, under-secretary of the treasury, thinks otherwise and so does Secretary Stimson. The fear is expressed by those of the latter group that congress may see political entanglement in reparations. The view expressed by the former group is that international politics will not enter into the question and that the new bank affords an opportunity for real cooperation between the central banks of Europe and the federal reserve system which would work to the advantage of American business and banking. Heretofore much of the same thing has had to be accomplished by secret conferences between federal reserve bank officials in New York and governors of the central banks of Europe.

Now Mr. Mellon sees the question as a practical and simple method of banking, having had wide experience in that field himself. Others see it from the political side. President Hoover, for the moment, is taking the cautious position that if there is some other way of accomplishing the same result, namely, by having Americans sit in the management of the international bank as private citizens, maybe that's the best solution after all.

WON'T PROLONG DEBATE

When the matter is settled, that will end it so far as Mr. Mellon is concerned. He considers that incident closed and goes on to the next, giving his advice for what it is worth.

There are, of course many influences that would like to get Mr. Mellon out of the picture. Some of the middle west agrarians constitute one group and then there are some who aspire to his place.

Does Mr. Mellon have the same influence under Mr. Hoover that he had under Mr. Coolidge? The public impression is that President Hoover has on some occasions already failed to follow the advice of his secretary of the treasury but that is also true of the opinions of some of his other cabinet officers. The important thing is that the president values Mr. Mellon's ability highly and wants to retain his services just as long as the secretary wants to stay. And Mr. Mellon is finding public service useful and enjoyable. He will have rounded out nine years of service next March and it looks as if he will have the record of tenure in this quarter of century in the treasury department.

OPPOSES MORE TIME FOR WAR DECORATIONS

Washington — (P) — Because he believes it is human to magnify services after a lapse of a period of time, Secretary Mellon has opposed a bill to extend the time for granting World War decorations.

"To grant more time," he wrote Acting Chairman James of the house military committee, "would, in my opinion, lower the high standard of awards and would undoubtedly detract from the value of decorations already awarded. It should be borne in mind that it is human to magnify

Youth Raises Whoopee in the Latest and Fastest Talking Drama

THESE WORDS TO THE WISE THEATRE-GOER ARE SUFFICIENT

When the management of BRIN'S APPLETON THEATRE first contemplated the installation of sound equipment for the presentation of talking pictures, the thought paramount in mind was to provide the best reproduction possible. In this we believe that we have been successful at an expense of well over $20,000 we installed the WESTERN ELECTRIC SOUND EQUIPMENT which is universally recognized as the last word in sound reproduction, which not only provides as great an entertainment as the theatre can give but also conclusively establishes this new medium as the mightiest entertainment force in the world.

The management of this theatre realized that it must exercise discriminating care in the selection of synchronized and talking pictures and in this we also believe that we have succeeded. It is not the policy of this theatre to use superlatives on any picture that does not warrant it, but when you see "THE TRIAL OF MARY DUGAN" you will agree with those who have witnessed it that here is a talking picture that is truly better than the very same vehicle was as a play and can be considered the finest dialogue picture thus far made.

We told you in advance that "THE SINGING FOOL," "THE BROADWAY MELODY," "THE DESERT SONG" and others too numerous to mention, were going to be smash hits. . . . We were right. The wise theatre-goer knows that when the APPLETON THEATRE advertises a picture as being great entertainment, it is just that. The same prediction can be made about "THE TRIAL OF MARY DUGAN."

There is no question about its greatness — no doubt about its success. Directed by the author, Bayard Veiller, with a cast that includes NORMA SHEARER, LEWIS STONE, H. B. WARNER, RAYMOND HACKETT and other celebrities.

All things that are fine that can be said about a picture can be said about "THE TRIAL OF MARY DUGAN" which opens a week's engagement at BRIN'S APPLETON THEATRE this coming Sunday.

There will be a special premiere MIDNIGHT SHOWING of "THE TRIAL OF MARY DUGAN" Saturday evening at 11:30 P. M. All seats are reserved for this performance and are now on sale at the box office. The wise theatre-goer knows that it pays him to get his seats in advance.

SELLING CAUSES SOME STOCKS TO BE CARRIED DOWN

Operators for Advance, However, Keep General List Somewhat Higher

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL, Associated Press Financial Editor
New York.—(P)—Persistent selling for both accounts again depressed a wide range of issues in today's stock market, but operators for the advance, centering in the utilities, carried the general list irregularly higher.

Failure of the call loan rate to go below 9 per cent and uncertainty as to what may be expected from the weekly brokerage loan statement, due to appear after the close of the market, caused some uneasiness and induced profit-taking and lightning of commitments.

The undertone of the money market, however, was easy, and Wall Street believed lower money rates could be expected in the near future. Further paying off of New York banks' indebtedness to the federal reserve, however, tended to nullify for the present the influence of an inflow of funds from the interior.

Announcement that the treasury would retire $75,000,000 in 3 1/2 per cent notes was regarded as promising some improvement unless the federal reserve acts to offset the influence on the money market.

As last week's brokerage loan total was but $24,000,000 from the record total of March 20, was prepared

BULLISH ADVICES SENDS PRICE OF WHEAT SOARING

Advance Follows News That Eight Inches of Rain Fell in Southwest

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN, Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago.—(P)—Sensational bull market for wheat, together with word of a dock strike at Buenos Aires, turned wheat prices sharply upward here today. The advance followed news that as much as 8 inches of rain had fallen in part of the harvest region southwest, whereas drought loomed northwest, enlarging. Besides, the trade toward the last became better informed that crop damage neither in this country nor Canada since July 1 is included in the government reports issued last evening.

Uncertainty as the basis on which the Canadian or the United States crop reports have been figured contributed to a material price today to sharp downward swings of wheat values. It was shown that the Canadian official report, worked out on a basis of a 10-year average production, would mean a yield of 310,000,000 bu. of wheat this season, whereas worked out on the basis of last year's harvest the 1929 yield would be more than 400,000,000 bu. Similarly, the United States government report would indicate a wide difference according to whether or not damage since July 1 had been allowed for.

Under such circumstances, increased selling today to realize profits for some holders of wheat ran the market into standing orders to stop losses on declines. The result was a sudden tumble in prices, amounting in some cases to nearly a dollar at this stage, however, reinstatement of sold-out lines took place and rallies ensued.

HOG VALUES RISE WITH GOOD DEMAND

Choice Light Butchers Sell from $12 to $12.10 at Start

Chicago.—(P)—Demand for hogs showed up well at the start, and sellers asked strong values for the stuff on hand. Choice light butchers sold at $12.00 to $12.10 from the outset, and sellers held best lots higher; fresh supply was estimated at 25,000, and of these about 6,500 were direct to packers from other trading points, while the balance about 1,000 held over from the previous session. Total supply of hogs at principal markets for the day was posted at 70,800, against 79,700 the corresponding day a year ago.

Most of the sellers looked for a good and strong market for the best steers from the outset. Few of these were on hand, and most of the supply consisted of medium and plainer grades. Of the estimated run of 6,000, about 500 were direct to packers. Total supply of cattle at principal markets for the day was posted at 18,700, against 20,000 a year ago.

Of the estimated 13,000 sheep and lambs for the local yards for the day, about 4,500 were direct to packers from other trading points. Sellers asked fully steady value for good lots, best sales were made early in the day. All of the reported 682 cars of live stock arrived early.

3 SCHOLARSHIPS ARE OFFERED TO 4-H CLUB GIRLS

Sorority to Give Awards to Girls Writing Best Essays

The chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary professional home economics sorority at the University of Wisconsin, has made available three scholarships of $50 each for 4-H club girls who are entering as freshmen in the home economics department of the state university according to word received by Miss Harriet Thompson, county club leader. Miss Thompson is urging county 4-H club girls to enter the contest.

The purpose of these scholarships is to aid 4-H club girls who are planning to wholly or partially put themselves through school. The freshman year is a period of adjustment to new work and environment and it is at this time that financial help may be most appreciated. These scholarships are available for the fall of 1929.

The committee in charge of the selection of the girls to be awarded the honor consists of J. A. James, assistant dean of the college of agriculture; Miss Hazel Manning and Miss Leta Bane of the Home Economics department. The committee has made plans for the awarding of the scholarships as follows:

A 4-H club girl desiring to enter the home economics course this fall shall write a story on the subject "My 4-H Club Work and My Future." This should be in the applicant's own hand writing. In this story at least the following three points should be discussed.

1. What I have done in 4-H club work.
2. Why I wish to make my future in home economics.
3. Reason the scholarship is desired.

Each girl who wishes to secure a scholarship is asked to write a letter to Dean J. A. James, College of Agriculture, Madison, Wis., stating her interest in the scholarship and indicating when the essay will be forwarded to the college. It is asked that photograph or Kodak picture be sent with this letter. Have the high school principal send a record of high school standing to Dean James. Also ask three to five persons who know her well, such as the county agent, a state club leader, the pastor, a former teacher, a business man, or a neighbor to write Dean James a letter of recommendation.

The scholarship will be awarded on the basis of the story, (60 per cent) and the personal data and reference reports (20 per cent), and the high school scholastic record (20 per cent). All references should be sent as soon as possible and all stories should be in the hands of Dean J. A. James of the College of Agriculture on or before August 1st, 1929, so that announcement of the scholarship awards may be made by August 15, 1929.

ST. LOUIS SEEKS TITLE AS "AVIATION CAPITAL"

St. Louis — (AP) — St. Louis is out to capture the title of "aviation capital" of the nation.

The position of the city as a leading center is the basis of an intensive national advertising program launched by the advertising committee of the Industrial club of St. Louis.

The campaign follows a two-year survey of advantages offered here to the aviation industry. Copies have been sent to bankers and aeronautical manufacturers throughout the country, and a wide spread newspaper advertising campaign is to be conducted this summer.

St. Louis has four flying fields, five aviation schools, four airplane factories, an engine factory and a transcontinental airway headquarters, in addition to four passenger and air mail lines.

CITY HALL FANS ANXIOUSLY AWAIT HORSESHOE MATCH

City hall horseshoe pitching fans are bubbling over with enthusiasm over the doubles tournament which will take place in Hugo Keller's back yard on Wednesday at 7 o'clock Thursday evening.

Pre-tournament gossip is about evenly divided as far as favoritism is concerned for the two teams, although Fred Bachman, city treasurer, who will be official referee, thinks that Carl Becher, city clerk isn't eligible to enter the tourney. Fred by the way was trimmed by Carl Tuesday evening in three straight matches.

Carl Becher and Hugo Keller will compose one team, and Elmer Honkampe, city hall champ, and Alderman Harvey Priebe, the other. Honkampe took the city hall crown from Priebe several weeks ago in a fast tilt.

Six Trans-Continental Air Mail Lines Now Link East And West Coasts Of U. S.

New York—Coast-to-coast travelers, anxious to make the trip in the shortest possible time, may now take one of six air-rail routes from New York to San Francisco or Los Angeles and get to their destination in from 44 to 67 hours.

The fastest time from coast to coast by rail is 80 hours. By taking to the air during the daylight hours, and to the rails by night, this time can be cut almost in half. Soon, it is predicted, at least one of the air transport lines now operating in conjunction with the railroads for this cross-country journey will extend its route all the way across and be cut down even this remarkable time to as short as 34 hours!

Six air-mail routes are operating at present. Before the year is over, two more are expected to join in the competition to hasten passengers from the Atlantic to the Pacific and back. The whole plan is revealed for the first time by Andrew S. Stewart in the latest issue of Air Transportation, weekly trade journal of commercial aviation.

"At present," says Stewart, "a business man may leave New York on Saturday and arrive in Los Angeles on Monday without loss of a business day. The cost is little more than a twice railroad fare. The time is better than two and a half times as fast."

Following is the list of lines operating at present, the connections made, elapsed time and cost of trip:

1. Universal Aviation Corporation—New York Central Railroad from New York to Cleveland, by air Cleveland to Garden City, Kas. by way of Chicago and Kansas City; by rail again on the Santa Fe to Los Angeles. Total time, 67 hours. Total fare, $233.76, including Pullman accommodations.

land to Garden City, Kas. by way of Chicago and Kansas City; by rail again on the Santa Fe to Los Angeles. Total time, 67 hours. Total fare, $233.76, including Pullman accommodations.

2. Western Air Express—Same route as Universal lines to Garden City, then by Santa Fe Railroad to Albuquerque and by Western Air Express to Los Angeles, cutting the time down to 58 hours. A shorter alternative is to take the Western Air lines at Kansas City and fly all the way through to Los Angeles, cutting another 12 hours off the time. Total fare by way of Kansas City is $298.33.

3. Western Air Express—New York Central to Chicago; Chicago and Alton to Kansas City, thence by air to Los Angeles. Total time, 46 hours. Total fare, $245.

4. Southwestern Air Fast Express—The Safeway System—By Pennsylvania from New York to St. Louis, thence by air to Sweetwater, Tex., thence by Texas and Pacific Railroad to El Paso, where passengers take planes of the Standard Air Lines to Los Angeles. Later in the year the Safeway Lines will have their own planes from El Paso. Total time, 65 hours. Total fare, $215.

5. Transcontinental Air Transport—By Pennsylvania Railroad to Columbus, O., air to Waynoka, Okla., Santa Fe Railroad to Clovis, N. M., and air to Los Angeles or San Francisco. Total time, 48 hours. Fare, $351.

6. Boeing Air Transport—New York Central to Chicago, thence by air night and day by way of Salt Lake City to San Francisco. Passengers transfer at Salt Lake City for Los Angeles by Western Air Express. Total fare to San Francisco $250; to Los Angeles, $255. Time, 44 hours.

Another transcontinental air-rail line now in the process of formation, says Stewart, will route passengers by way of St. Louis, Tulsa, Dallas and El Paso to San Diego. The eighth line-to-be is that of the National Air Transport with an air route between New York and Chicago and only two transfers along the way to the coast.

Every route is well mapped and marked for the safety of the passengers, and accomplished transport pilots man the ships. Night flying is part of the Boeing trip between Chicago and San Francisco, but the route is well lighted and radio, beacon equipment is being installed for further safety of the planes and passengers.

AIR MAIL BUSINESS SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Washington — (AP) — The month of June, 1929, set a new record for air mail transportation with a total poundage of 593,254, a gain of 5,783 pounds over the month of May.

This record was made in spite of June's handicap of one less day than May, and an added Sunday. Daily mileage increased from 36,334 in May to 38,689 in June.

MAJOR GENERAL NOW COLONEL OF RESERVE

Washington — (AP) — Creed C. Hammond of Eugene, Ore., until recently chief of the militia bureau with the rank of major general, has been reappointed as a colonel of the infantry reserve.

Col. Hammond's term as chief of the militia bureau expired more than a week ago and Secretary Good announced he would not be reappointed. Announcement of his reappointment as a colonel in the infantry reserve, was accompanied by the explanation that a system of dual commissions is maintained where national guard officers are concerned and that he held a similar rank in the reserve when he was appointed to head the militia bureau.

The governors of a number of states had recommended that Col. Hammond be reappointed chief of the militia bureau, but Secretary Good announced he was adhering to the policy adopted some time ago providing for a single four-year term for the heads of all war department bureaus and army services. A successor has not yet been appointed to succeed Col. Hammond in the militia bureau.
